Mollison Reaches Newfoundland on Atlantic Flight

Bound From New York to London, on Record Speed Attempt, Veteran British Ocean Flier Pauses at Harbor Grace

Plans Flight To Capetown Shortly

Associated Press
New York, Oct. 28.—Capt. James A. Mollison, en route to London in a one-stop flight from New York, landed at Harbor Grace, Nfld., at 3.25 p.m., E.S.T., today, the Floyd Bennett Airport was advised.

He planned to refuel there.

TAKE-OFF AT NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 28 (Associated Press).—Attired in a dinner jacket, Capt. James A. Mollison, the trans-Atlantic flier, took off at 8.44 a.m. today for a one-stop flight to London by way of Harbor Grace, Nfld., hoping to establish a mark of 17½ flying hours from the Floyd Bennett Field to the Croydon aerodrome.

"I do my best flying at night," explained the Englishman, "so, don't you know, I have to be properly dressed."

He did don a flying suit over his dinner jacket as a concession to low temperatures, and the conventional vest of the man-about-town attired for formal dining had been replaced with a white sweater. He had slipped slacks over his trousers.

Mollison, intending to fly at altitudes of 15,000 feet, figured he could reach Harbor Grace, with his plane's initial load of 420 gallons of gasoline in 5½ hours. His machine, a speedy Boulton monoplane powered with a 700 horsepower motor, has a cruising speed of about 250 miles an hour.

It is a single cockpit ship with a sliding hood to convert it into a closed type, and is painted blue and orange. Mollison said he would navigate only with a gyroscopic compass and an artificial horizon.

The plane bears the wing marking "M-R-100M."

MESSAGE FROM WIFE

Just before the take-off Mollison received a cablegram from his wife, Amy, wishing him luck on his voyage. She announced in London last week she and Mollison had separated.

The flier took along no food, but expected to take some aboard the plane at Harbor Grace for the water stop. He said he hoped to pick up the coast of Ireland nine hours out of Harbor Grace and to make London in three more hours.

Arrived there, he planned to leave within three days for Capetown, South Africa.

Weather reports from there indicated the hop for London might not be advisable tonight or tomorrow.

BANK REFUSES ALBERTA LOAN

Province Continues Negotiations in Spite of Bank of Canada Denying Application For $3,500,000 For Bond-redemption Purposes

Canadian Press
Edmonton, Oct. 28.—The Bank of Canada has refused Alberta a loan of $3,500,000 for bond-redemption purposes, it was announced today by Provincial Treasurer Crockett. Despite the refusal, he said he was continuing with the bank.

Turned down by the federal government in its efforts to raise enough money to escape defaulting a bond issue of $1,250,000, due November 1, the provincial government yesterday directed an appeal to the Bank of Canada. The bank was asked to loan $3,500,000, enough to pay the November issue and an issue, the principal of which was defaulted last April.

In making the announcement of the bank's refusal, the Provincial Treasurer today declined to go into details, saying merely "they declined to make the loan."

Two Years After Trial, Ontario Youth Admits Killing

Canadian Press
Walkerton, Ont., Oct. 28.—Earl Lettler, nineteen-year-old farm hand, acquitted two years ago on a charge of murdering his grandfather, Philip Stroth, has confessed to the murder, an assize court judge was told here today by C. L. Snyder, K.C., special prosecutor.

A few minutes after the grand jury had returned a "no bill verdict" on a murder charge against Mrs. Mary Stroth, widow of Philip, Lettler pleaded guilty to creating a "public mischief" by allegedly stating to police that his grandmother had committed the axe murder.

Under the Criminal Code a person once tried for murder and acquitted cannot be tried a second time.

Rene Morin, vice-chairman of the board of governors, also will speak.

Claim Government Record Won Seats

Mark Connelly, Omineca Member, Says Pattullo Policies Aided Improvement

Extension of the provincial government's policy of permitting farmers to work out delinquent taxes was foreshadowed by Mark M. Connelly, Liberal, Omineca, moving the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne in the B.C. Legislature this afternoon.

Two years ago the government began giving farmers the chance to work out one year's arrears of taxes on the roads, Mr. Connelly said he was led to believe the government was considering widening this plan so that more than one year's taxes could be paid off by this plan.

Mr. Connelly, making his maiden speech following his election in June, expressed the hope that farmers and prospectors would be included in the health insurance scheme. At present they are excluded.

"These people, who fight their own battles for a living are just as much, and perhaps more, in need of this kind of co-operative insurance as the worker in large industries," he said.

FORESTRY CAMP

The speaker voiced praise of the excellent results accomplished by the government's forestry training camps for young men.

"I have learned of the splendid work undertaken and the benefit such training in forestry will do to these young men who will now be well-fitted to earn their livelihood in one of our greatest natural industries," he declared.

The assistance given the lumber industry in finding new markets, particularly in empire countries, had stimulated sales of many millions of dollars, creating employment and adding to the province's purchasing power.

HIGHWAY WORKS

He touched upon highway improvements carried out in the last year with federal assistance and added a plea for a northern highway connecting with Jasper and with the North Thompson Highway at Kamloops.

Relief in Omineca had been cut from 500 cases three years ago to 100 today through the opening of private mining enterprises and government road work.

He urged the government to take up the question of land settlement in the central interior of the province and to make reserved lands more available.

By-election Victories Show Confidence, Says Howard Forester, Burrard

Claim that the by-elections in Omineca and Burrard were won on the record of the Pattullo government was made in the B.C. Legislature this afternoon by John Howard Forester, the new Liberal member for Burrard, seconding the address in his maiden speech.

"Is it not significant," he said, "that since the last session of this House government policies and administration have been endorsed in the country and in the city, and in the process leaders of the two largest opposition parties were defeated in the Vancouver-Burrard by-election?"

To Premier Pattullo, the new member gave credit for the preservation of British Columbia's autonomy against attempted domination by eastern interests.

"Through his wise and capable organization and leadership, this province has been brought from the depths of despondent despair to a position of leadership in the progress of the provinces of this great Dominion out of the world's greatest depression," Mr. Forester declared.

SOUND FINANCING

Sound financing by Hon. John Hart was bringing about renewed confidence in British Columbia in investment markets, he said, quoting one big investor who had held bonds in the $3,500,000 issue paid off by the provincial treasury in May. This investor had since stated he was prepared to recommend investment of millions in British Columbia securities because of its careful financing.

The government's lead in health insurance had been justified to the extent of 10,015,639 persons on September 1.

EMPLOYMENT IS INCREASING

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Oct. 28.—Industrial employment in Canada made a substantial increase in the month of September, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today. Staffs of 10,030 reporting firms aggregated 1,044,178 persons on October 1, compared with 1,015,639 persons on September 1.

Automobile Wrecked When It Hits Railway Fence in Vancouver

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Oct. 28.—Two men were held by police here today for investigation in connection with a chase through downtown streets last night which ended when a stolen automobile, pursued by police patrol car, crashed into a railway fence.

Two men in the stolen car leaped from the machine and fled on foot. The police car skidded to a stop alongside the wrecked machine and the officers went in pursuit of the men. A harbor board railway official grasped one of the men, but he broke away and both escaped.

The two suspects were arrested later. Another stolen automobile was wrecked when it collided with a truck driven by Jack Little, who held the driver, a juvenile, until police arrived.

Lucien Maynard, minister without portfolio, at a board of trade meeting here yesterday evening. Use of Alberta credit would be on a voluntary basis, he said, the government not having the power to make it compulsory.

DUCE SPEAKS TO 50,000

Throngs Cheer Mussolini As He Says Italy Ready For Sternest Defence

Rome, Oct. 28.—Bellowing above the roar of 50,000 cheering Fascists in Venezia Square, Premier Mussolini today signalled the fourteenth anniversary of the famous "March on Rome" by declaring:

"The Italian people today are ready and determined to defend as never before—with all their force, right up to the last drop of blood—victory and empire."

Beginning his fifteenth year, he said, Fascism has reached such a state that "when it finds obstacles in its path, it throws itself against them and burns its bridges behind it."

Premier flanking Mussolini as he spoke were five German officers. "The fourteenth year of Fascism was a happy one, but the fifteenth year will not be less happy because such is our faith and our will—an adult will as tempered as the blades of your swords," he said.

THOUSANDS PARADE
Wild enthusiasm at Il Duce's shouted blast, "We have conquered our place in the sun. Our pride is legitimate," thousands of black-shirted, young Fascists and university students paraded down Empire Street past the Palazzo Venezia.

Il Duce's platform promises at the beginning of his regime were, in part: Consolidation of national life and political direction; elevation of Italian prestige abroad; development of a military nation capable of viewing calmly any world crisis and territorial expansion.

Italian Ambassador Grandi Adds to Tension at Non-Intervention Committee Meeting in London by Denouncing Soviet for Alleged Shipments of War Materials to Spanish Loyalists; Twenty Violations of Nations' Neutrality Agreement Are Included in Accusations; Call Made for Explanation by Moscow

Associated Press
London, Oct. 28.—Italy, denouncing Soviet Russia for twenty alleged new violations of the "Hands-off-Spain" agreement, today demanded an investigation to establish the facts.

Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to Great Britain, made the charges and demands to the Earl of Plymouth, chairman of the committee, as it went into session this afternoon.

Dates and details of the alleged Russian violations were included in the Grandi protest, and he asked that the Soviet be called on for an immediate explanation.

The Italian note included the following charges:

1. The Soviet steamship Nera left Odessa October 12 for Spain with 150 trucks aboard.
2. The Soviet steamship George Dimitroff left Odessa for Spain on October 11 with sixty trucks aboard.
3. The Soviet steamship Transbalt left Odessa with 100 trucks for Spain on October 15.

CALL MADRID TO SURRENDER

Insurgents Give Spanish Capital 48 Hours Before Bombardment Time

Havas News Agency
Huesca, Spain, Oct. 28.—With an army of tanks, planes and heavy artillery massed for his final offensive against Madrid, Gen. Francisco Franco today was reported preparing an ultimatum demanding the capital's surrender within forty-eight hours.

The insurgent radio station at La Coruna said the ultimatum would be dropped on the capital by airplanes today. If leftist authorities refused to surrender, the Fascist general would order an immediate land and air bombardment of the capital.

Stalin Writes To Press Bureau

But A.P. Men in Moscow Do Not See Him; Gravely Ill, Says Paris Paper

Moscow, Oct. 28.—Writing from the "calm of the other world," Dictator Joseph Stalin today said he could not add anything to reports of his death. The Moscow bureau of the Associated Press received a second letter from Stalin, replying within a few hours to a request for an interview sent to the Kremlin.

The letter, signed in the same firm blue pencil as his earlier letter, stated:

"I regret I cannot add anything to what was said in my previous letter. With respect, (signed) J. Stalin."

NOT TO BE DISTURBED

In his previous letter, the Soviet dictator, commenting on widespread reports that he was either dead, dying or going to the United States for a serious operation, humorously requested the Associated Press bureau chief to "believe them"—the reports of his death—"and don't disturb me in the calm of the other world."

The dictator was seen at the Bolshoi Theatre on Sunday. Informal sources say he undoubtedly will appear in Red Square November 7 to review a parade.

Paris, Oct. 28 (Associated Press).—The newspaper Le Matin said today Dictator Joseph Stalin was gravely ill with heart trouble and that reorganization of the Moscow regime was already planned.

The paper said Stalin was hidden away in a small sanatorium in the south of Russia.

The report, credited generally to Paris diplomatic circles, said the Russian Government was keeping news of Stalin's illness from the nation until changes in administration were completed in preparation for his possible death.

Le Matin said Stalin was accompanied by two physicians named Vorobey and Somov, heart and liver specialists, at a small private hospital whose location was carefully kept secret.

CONSUL'S SECRETARY DIES

Ottawa, Oct. 28 (Canadian Press).—Josef Viktor Sawiki, sixty, secretary to the Polish consul-general in Ottawa, died suddenly yesterday while resting on a park bench. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Thirty-six Die In European Gale

Crews of Freighter and Lightship Believed to Have Perished in Storm That Swept British Isles and North Sea

Canadian Press From Havaas
London, Oct. 28.—Death toll in the violent gale which lashed the British Isles and northern Europe during the past forty-eight hours mounted to thirty-six today.

Fourteen of the victims were believed to have perished when the 1,651-ton Latvian steamer Helena Paulbaum struck a reef near Oban Bay, the island of Mull, west of Scotland, late yesterday. Five bodies of the crew were washed ashore.

Reports from Hamburg said fifteen members of the crew of the German lightship Elbe had been lost when the ship foundered yesterday off the mouth of the Elbe River.

Three people, including a woman and a child, were fatally injured at Glasgow. Scores were reported injured throughout the United Kingdom and Ireland, with property damage heavy.

Almost every airplane remained grounded during the storm. Several storm-lashed airports reported heavy losses. Twenty Royal Air Force planes were almost completely wrecked at Abbot's Inch field near Paisley, while four others were smashed at Renfrew, where the ninety-mile gale stripped the roofs from hangars.

SHIPS DELAYED
Shipping in the North Atlantic and the Irish and North Seas was completely paralyzed. All coastguard stations were taxed to their utmost to answer numerous pleas for assistance.

Two fishermen who disappeared at Sunderland, near the mouth of the Wear River, were believed to have been drowned.

Five members of the 1,257-ton British freighter Cerne escaped death when a launch in which they attempted to reach shore was driven toward Goodwin Shoals. The five seamen were rescued by the freighter Walmer.

The 7,347-ton British tanker Laurewood was reported drifting helplessly in the North Sea off Brunsbuttel, with tugs attempting to reach her through mountainous seas.

MANY CALLS HEARD

Scores of SOS signals were reported from the storm area and property damage along the German and British coasts was reported very high.

The storm was at its worst in Scotland. The wind reached a velocity of eighty miles an hour in Glasgow. A man was thrown to the pavement and died of a broken skull. A five-year-old Italian child was found dead under a heap of debris, apparently killed by slates blown from a roof.

A street car was blown over and three persons injured.

Trains in northern England and Scotland were delayed by fallen trees on the tracks.

Stockholm, Oct. 28.—The twelve members of the crew of the 300-ton Swedish steamer Bona were believed drowned when the ship foundered near the Karleborg Islands in the Baltic Sea, according to reports received here today.

Criminal Code Changes Urged

Montreal, Oct. 28.—The time has come, Judge Amedee Monet believes, for amendments to the Criminal Code.

"Very often the law is the judge, and not the judge sitting on the bench in certain cases," he said. "The Criminal Code, he said, calls for a sentence of not less than three years in penitentiary for a man convicted of stealing 25 cents from a letter, yet provides a sentence of not more than three years for defrauding a widow of her last $10,000."

With the city's normal population of more than 1,000,000 greatly swollen, the government was alarmed at the tremendous task it faces in conserving and mobilizing its resources.

A war ministry bulletin admitted government reverses on all the fronts surrounding Madrid except at Talavera de la Reina, where, it said, Madrid warplanes bombed the insurgent camp.

Carlos Rubiera, president of the newly-formed provisioning commission, said the capital had sufficient food supplies to last for at least two months.

The fascists' out-maneuvred the government troops at every turn. By dawn today they had virtually captured the village of Peguerinos, near El Escorial, on the front west of Madrid, almost without exposing a man.

Looking down into the valley, this correspondent saw frequent skirmishes between the opposing forces, and after them, lines of prisoners and wounded being brought back to the fascist camp. Shrapnel bursts hung lazily in the heavy mountain air on all sides.

PLANES BUSY

He followed the twisting course of three insurgent airplanes, diving like sea eagles to bomb government positions and take them with machine-gun fire.

Seven miles through the woods on horseback over difficult mountain trails brought him close to the fighting.

Munitions and supplies must be smuggled up to the scattered front along tortuous, rock-strewn paths. The wounded bounce painfully, their moans echoing through the forest, as they are carried back down the trails on saddle chairs and on hand stretchers.

At night they make a weird, ghost-like procession.

From three to eight months are spent in the production of an animated cartoon for the movies.

RUSSIA SENDS JAPAN PROTEST

Canadian Press From Havaas

Moscow, Oct. 28.—Two Japanese and Manchukuan detachments crossed the Soviet frontier near Touridog and attacked seven Russian border guards, Tass (Soviet news agency) reported from Khabarovsk yesterday evening.

The Russian soldiers forced the Japanese to retire, the dispatch added.

The Foreign Commissariat ordered Konstantin Yuruev, Russian ambassador at Tokyo, to protest the incident to the Japanese government.

leaders laid out a careful strategy for occupying the city.

They relied principally on a fleet of 200 swift, tiny tanks and armored cars to charge into Madrid's streets ahead of infantry, if necessary, to follow up their projected bombardment of the capital with big guns.

Taking into account all possibilities of a hostile population or a last-ditch stand by the government troops, they said the mobile, machine-gunning tank fleet could dominate any street fighting or sniping after the artillery and air attacks.

BATTERIES READY

Batteries of six-inch guns will be drawn up into position in the fascist circle of steel around the capital to break its "last line of defence."

Date for the attack—rumored imminent—remained a military secret, however.

Fascist forces held an unbroken line surrounding the capital on three sides, from the northwest to the southeast, and had cut Madrid's last railroad communication eastward to the Mediterranean coast.

THROUGH BOSPHORUS

Istanbul, Oct. 28 (Associated Press).—Maritime records today disclosed the Soviet ships Blagov, Kursk, Skirzoff and Stefanoff, loaded with foodstuffs, planes and war materials, had passed through the Bosphorus, their destination being given as Spain.

REFUGEES ROAM MADRID

Associated Press
Madrid, Oct. 28.—Thousands of homeless wanderers, stranded by the civil war, roamed Madrid today, adding to the confusion of the capital as the government openly admitted its desperate plight.

The cabinet, in emergency session to solidify defence operations, ordered compulsory billeting for war refugees who, they feared, would be a menace to order in the tense capital.

Great numbers of them have straggled through insurgent lines from occupied provincial towns.

MANY ARE HUNGRY

Many show signs of starvation and exposure. Gaunt and ragged, they have neither money, friends nor resources to procure shelter, clothes or food.

Courts Called On To Decide Stork Derby in Toronto and for the determination by the court of the following questions and matters:

"1. Is clause 9 of the said will valid?"
"2. If it is valid, to ascertain the beneficiary or beneficiaries entitled thereunder."

TEN-YEAR FUND

"The will of the late Mr. Miller by clause 9 gives the residue of his estate with its accumulations to the end of ten years from his death (which occurred on October 31, 1926) to the mother who has since my death given birth in Toronto to the greatest number of children as shown by the registrations under the Vital Statistics Act, which is the act that provides for the registration of births."

"Some claimants are disputing the validity of this clause. If it is valid, the particular mother or mothers who take under it must be ascertained. Should it be invalid, however, the next of kin who takes on intestacy must be ascertained."

NUMEROUS CONSIDERATIONS

"Many questions may arise in determining who will ultimately benefit, and in order that they may all be determined as inexpensively and expeditiously as possible, Mr. Justice Middleton, at the request of the Chief Justice of Ontario and the Chief Justice of High Court, has given his appointment as the first step in solving all problems that arise."

The notice is signed "Andrew W. Hunter, solicitor for the executors of the estate of Charles Miller, deceased."

The executors of the estate were so besieged by lawyers, mothers and newspaper reporters that they announced yesterday a representative was being named to give out necessary information.

FIVE-WAY TIE

One source predicted a five-way tie among Mrs. Matthew Kenny, Mrs. Pauline Clark, Mrs. Timleck, Mrs. Nagle and Mrs. Alfred Smith. The quintette, this source said, would finish with nine registered births each. Mrs. Kenny alone would refuse to share the prize with any others.

I. E. Wildon, K.C. counsel for Mrs. Kenny, said he would not consider relinquishing her demand at least two of her unregistered babies be registered.

Mrs. Grace Bagnato, two of whose children are unregistered, also has declared she will "fight to the finish" to have late registrations made. She expects another child this week.

CHARACTER SKETCH

Toronto, Oct. 28.—Charles Vance Miller, eccentric millionaire who started Toronto's fantastic stork derby with his death ten years ago, was a "Scrooge beyond power of redemption." The Globe said in a copyright story today.

"Study of his history and conversation with his acquaintances reveals two sides to his character," the paper said. "One is the shrewd lawyer with capacity for making money in business investments; a devotee of horse racing and betting; a rich man with a penchant for practical jokes."

"But overshadowing this is the picture of a man filled in love, embittered by such fate," the Globe said. "He fell in love with a young girl, but she turned him down, and jilted once, he never loved again."

He was a "hard-boiled guy who observed human emotions but gave them no value." But if he owed money, "he'd go a thousand miles to pay you," an acquaintance was quoted as saying.

URGES BUREAU AID FAMILIES

Rev. C. E. Silcox Gives Views at Birth Control Hearing in Ontario

Canadian Press
Estevan, Ont., Oct. 28.—Vision of a "bureau of marital guidance" today was laid before the court trying Dorothy Palmer on a charge of advertising birth control information and contraceptives.

The bureau was suggested by Rev. C. E. Silcox, secretary of the Social Service Council of Canada, as his idea of the "ideal" manner of dispensing contraceptive knowledge.

Mr. Silcox, on the witness stand for more than eight hours and unfinished at the lunch interval, said such a bureau, directed by a board of men and women recognized in the spheres of medicine, religion and sociology, should be established in every Canadian community.

To it persons about to be married or those unhappily married could go with their problems to receive advice or information designed to improve their relations.

"I believe," he declared, "that if that kind of a bureau could be set up in every community in Canada, and could be more constructive to the public good."

Mr. Silcox was continuing his evidence as a defence expert, which he started yesterday, answering questions through which the defence seeks to establish Miss Palmer's actions in her work for the Parents' Information Bureau of Kitchener were in the public good.

Miss Palmer is charged under Section 207 (C) of the Criminal Code which contains an escape clause providing a person may not be convicted under the section if he can prove his actions were in the public good.

MAN INJURED; INDIANS HELD

Canadian Press
Campbell, River, B.C., Oct. 28.—Gordon Cavin was in the hospital today with injuries suffered when struck by an automobile on the Island Highway near Oyster Bay and two Indians were held by British Columbia police at Courtenay on charges of drunkenness and of driving while under the influence of liquor.

Cavin said he was repairing his machine at the side of the highway when struck by an automobile in which the Indians, Tom Smith and Bob Roberts, were allegedly riding. Constables Douglas Morris of Courtenay and M. N. McAlpine of Campbell River attempted to stop the Indians, but they escaped into the bush at the side of the road after the officers had fired two shots at them.

The officers waited, however, and captured the men about an hour later as they returned to the road.

SIR E. BRITTEN DIES SUDDENLY

Commander of Ss. Queen Mary Succumbs to Stroke at Southampton

Associated Press
Southampton, Eng., Oct. 28.—Commodore Sir Edgar Britten, R.D., R.N.R., commander of the British queen of the seas, the liner Queen Mary, died today, a few hours after he was stricken by paralysis. He was in his sixty-third year.

Sir Edgar suffered the stroke just before the Queen Mary was due to leave for New York. Captain R. V. Peel assumed command while Sir Edgar was taken to a nursing home, where he died.

QUEBEC TOLD OF DEFICIT

Quebec, Oct. 28.—An unexplained deficit of $50,000 was discovered in Administration funds for the Montreal courthouse, members of the public accounts committee of the Quebec Legislative Assembly were told today by Provincial Auditor Edgar Veczina.

No vouchers were found to explain the deficit, according to Mr. Veczina, who said the shortage had been discovered "under the administration of Premier Taschereau," the veteran cabinet head who resigned before the Liberal government met defeat in the last provincial election.

The auditor also said records showed payment of $45,000 in ten years to the "Legislative Council" for indemnities of non-existent councillors.

Other witnesses told of the sale of horses, one of them dead, to the Quebec government "at grossly exaggerated prices" by Charles Rochette, brother of a minister in the former Taschereau government.

The committee heard C. E. Canteen, government law officer, state an investigation had shown Rochette, brother of Edgar Rochette, former Minister of Game and Fisheries, had sold $46,000 worth of merchandise to the government within four months at a profit of $20,000.

The transactions, including the sale of flour to colonists, would have saved colonists $20,000, "if conducted honestly," declared Premier Dugas, who ordered a check to learn if "action ever had been taken against Mr. Rochette."

MARK CONNELLY, OMINECA MEMBER, SAYS PATTULLO POLI- CIES AID IMPROVEMENT

Tribe to Former Member
Mr. Connelly paid a tribute to his predecessor in Omineca riding, A. M. Manson, now a justice of the Supreme Court.

"He was with us long, and being so far to all, regardless of politics, was held by the people of Omineca in high esteem. We miss him and are proud that he is now in such a high position," he said.

Mr. Manson represented Omineca for twenty years, he recalled.

BY-ELECTION VICTORIES SHOW CONFIDENCE

tent that Ontario was now considering following suit, he asserted. He congratulated Attorney-General Sloan for a forceful presentation of the province's "better terms" case at Ottawa, which had already resulted in an interest subsidy of $750,000 and the granting of a Royal Commission.

RELIEF TO PROPERTY OWNERS

Mr. Forster said he hoped the financial aid proposed for municipalities this session would be passed along to property owners by way of reduced municipal taxation.

He complimented Hon. F. M. MacPherson on his road policies and in the signing of the new agreement with the Dominion Government for building highways on a fifty-fifty basis.

In conclusion, he said: "This government, under the outstanding and aggressive leadership of the Prime Minister has every reason to be proud of the fact that there were 9,804 more employed at the end of last year than at the beginning of the year, and that the payroll increased by approximately $40,000,000. Even greater progress has been made in this current year."

WHEAT MARKED

Edmonton, Oct. 28 (Canadian Press).—Officials of the Northern Alberta Railways estimated here today that 3,500,000 bushels of grain, mostly wheat and with an estimated value of $2,500,000, had been marketed already this season by farmers in northern Alberta.

KEPT IN BED BY BACKACHE

Now—Thanks to Kruschen
—Not a Trace of Pain

This woman's life was made a misery by the pains of backache. Then her father, who had proved the value of Kruschen salts for her, advised her to try it. She did, and here is her grateful letter:

"For years I have been suffering with pains in the back. At times I had to stay in bed for days. I could not walk, or even stand. My father was using Kruschen salts for the same thing. He, too, used to suffer badly, and Kruschen relieved him. He advised me to try it. I did so, and did not get a pain for three years. I then neglected my daily dose for about six months, and two months ago the pain returned. I tried another remedy it failed, so I again started Kruschen. Now I have not a trace of pain, thanks to Kruschen." (Mrs.) H. R.

Pains in the back are usually due to impurities in the blood—waste products which the internal organs are failing to expel from the system. The numerous salts in Kruschen assist in stimulating these organs to healthy, normal activity, and so help them to keep the system free from harmful waste matter.

MAN SENT UP FOR RIOT TRIAL

One Committed By Vancouver Magistrate; Another Given Three Months

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Oct. 28.—Jack Patterson was committed for trial on a charge of rioting when he appeared before Magistrate H. S. Wood in the Vancouver police court today.

The charge arises out of a disturbance created by a large number of single unemployed men at Hamilton Hall on October 13 last. Eight other men are at present awaiting trial on a similar charge.

Patterson was arrested on Friday last as he sat in court, a spectator at the preliminary hearing of the eight other accused.

Another unemployed man was sentenced to three months in jail on a charge of obstructing police officers as a result of a flower selling campaign on downtown streets. Several other jobless men were remanded to various dates for disposition.

University To Choose Rector

George Lansbury, Labor, Is Asked If He Will Stand For Election at Edinburgh

London, Oct. 28.—Rt. Hon. George Lansbury, former parliamentary leader of the Labor Party, has been asked by a body of Edinburgh students if he would be prepared to stand as a candidate in the election of a lord rector of Edinburgh University in succession to Lord Allenby, who died soon after his installation early this year.

Mr. Lansbury was approached when he was in Edinburgh for the Labor Party conference. He stated he would consider the question. Nominations in the election have to be made early next month.

So far only two other names have been suggested—those of Dr. Chalmers Watson and C. M. Grieve, the Scottish author and poet. Dr. Watson has previously contested the election.

There is an agreement that the election this year shall not be conducted on political lines, and consequently the Socialists as a political party are not supposed to give their official support to one candidate or another.

Bus Bylaw In Royal City Soon

New Westminster, Oct. 28.—A new bus by-law will be submitted to a special meeting of the New Westminster city council late this week, according to a statement by Mayor Fred J. Hume.

The new by-law was to have been introduced at a council meeting on Monday, but was delayed owing to all details not being completed, he said.

The by-law would be ready in time to submit to the private bills committee of the Legislature shortly, said the mayor.

Trade Pacts In Election Talk

Future of Canada's Agreement With U.S. Will Be Decided in Republic's
Polling Nov. 3; Roosevelt
Points to Trade Gains

By SAM ROBERTSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
New York, Oct. 28.—The United States election on November 3 will decide the future of the Canadian-American reciprocal trade agreement, which has increased commerce between the countries, and probably the prospect of an early start on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

As the campaign drew toward a close today, the major presidential candidates were on record on these questions as follows:

President Roosevelt: "Trade is not a one-way street. There cannot be a revival of foreign exports without a revival of foreign imports."

Governor Alfred M. Landon, Republican: "The reciprocal trade programme sold the farmer down the river. We can be a good neighbor without giving away the latch key."

INCREASED SEEN
The President pointed out recently that in 1935 the foreign trade of the United States had fallen to one-third of its former value. The only way to restore it, he said, was by lowering the tariff barriers so other countries might sell and thus gain the credits necessary to buy American goods.

He credited the reciprocal treaties with bringing about the increase of $130,000,000 in United States exports the first six months of this year.

In that period Canada sold 23 per cent more goods to the United States than she did during the first half of 1935. United States exports to Dominion increased 13 per cent. The value of Canada's exports totaled $159,840,000 the first half of this year. American products crossing into Canada were worth $283,752,000.

CATTLE AND CHEESE
When Mr. Landon made his chief utterance on trade at Minneapolis last month, he singled out imports of Canadian cattle and cheese as especially harmful to United States agriculture.

Reciprocity, he said, was valuable only when non-competing commodities were exchanged between the nations concerned.

The Republican New York Sun published a dispatch from Seattle aimed to show "why Canadians prefer Roosevelt." It took the form of an interview with a Charles Gribble, cattle dealer of Alberta (exact location not given), who was attending a Seattle convention.

Mr. Gribble was quoted as saying he "just brought a bunch of cattle into this country and the duty amounted to only $11,000—thanks to Roosevelt." If he had exported the cattle under a Republican president the duty would have been $22,000, Mr. Gribble was further quoted as saying, and adding:

"Now you understand why Canadians prefer Roosevelt. Of course, if I lived here I'd be for Landon, especially if I happened to be in the cattle business."

ST. LAWRENCE PLAN
Of the St. Lawrence deep waterway project the presidential candidates have said:

President Roosevelt: "That project will be carried through to completion as sure as God made little apples."

Governor Landon (in 1934): "For the past fifteen years this undertaking has been visualized, discussed and generally accepted as a major means for permanent industrial and agricultural uplift to the entire nation. The need remains urgent."

VIEW NOT CHANGED
The Republican nominee referred to that statement, sent the United States Senate two years ago, when the National Seaway Council recently sought his views on the waterway. His sentiments, he said, had not changed. He disclosed to reporters he did not promise his election would mean revival of the treaty and mentioned "more pressing problems."

President Roosevelt sought to push the treaty through Congress last year, but it was defeated in the Senate. He has expressed hope that with amendments it will gain approval. His Secretary of State, Cordell Hull, yesterday evening advocated early ratification of the waterway and interlocked power project so construction might start during 1937.

Judge Warns On Short Selling

Canadian Press
Toronto, Oct. 28.—When Toronto brokers sell stocks short they are violating the Criminal Code by "gambling in stocks," although such transactions are made every day, said Norman Borins, crown counsel yesterday during the trial of Harry Ornstein, fifty-eight, on a charge of gaming in stocks.

Judge Daniel O'Connell convicted Ornstein in county court and deferred sentence until Monday.

Following complicated evidence that Ornstein had ordered Thomas Allen to sell 100 shares of General Motors Limited which he did not possess, Judge O'Connell asked Mr. Borins:

"Do I understand you to say selling short is a criminal transaction?"

"Yes, your honor, under Section 231 (b) of the Criminal Code," said Mr. Borins.

"Then these brokers are living in a fool's paradise," remarked the judge.

Federal Branches Are Reorganized

Formal Announcement of Completion of Changes
Soon at Ottawa

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—The cabinet held a session yesterday afternoon, presided over by Finance Minister Charles Dunning in the absence of the Acting Prime Minister, Hon. Ernest Lapointe. Only routine business was before the government, Mr. Dunning said after the brief session.

It is possible a further session of the cabinet will be held later this week, after which formal announcement will be made of the completed departmental reorganization which will become effective November 2.

This will merge the departments of railways and canals and the department of marine into one department of transport. Hon. C. D. Howe, present Minister of Railways and Acting Minister of Marine, will head the newly-consolidated department. Appointment of heads of the various branches will be made this week.

SIR N. MOORE PASSES AWAY

Ex-President of Dominion
Steel Dies in England in Sixty-seventh Year

Canadian Press
Montreal, Oct. 28.—Word of the death in England of Sir Newton Moore, former president of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, was received today at the company's office here.

Sir Newton, in ill health, resigned last September 10 as president of the corporation, which controls huge plants and mines in Nova Scotia. He had been associated with the company since 1920, when he became a member of the London advisory committee of the corporation. Twelve years later he was appointed president, succeeding Charles B. McNaught in February, 1932.

Sir Newton, born in Australia in 1870, was Premier of Western Australia from 1906 to 1909 and a member of parliament from 1904 until 1911. SERVED AS BRITISH M.P.

Later, on moving to England, he served in the British House of Commons from 1918 to 1931.

From 1911 to 1918 Sir Newton served as Agent General for Western Australia in Great Britain and was general officer commanding the Australian Imperial Force, United Kingdom, from 1911-17.

By profession a civil engineer, he had numerous business interests in addition to his association with the Dominion Steel and Coal corporation. He was a director of Oshana Press Limited, the Great Boulder Proprietary Gold Mines Limited, and the Consolidated Tin Mines of Burma Limited.

Sir Newton in 1898 married Miss Isabel Lowrie. He is survived by the widow, a son and three daughters.

Others May Join New Italy-Reich Accord

Rome, Oct. 28.—The new Anglo-German agreement toward a limited front in dealing with European problems, has led to any other nation desiring to join, according to government sources here.

The accord concluded in Berlin yesterday, and its intentions are fundamentally peaceful.

RELIEF CLEAN-UP IN ONTARIO TOWN

Toronto, Oct. 28.—Report of relief recipients in the town of Hawkesbury, eastern Ontario, driving their own automobiles, operating their own businesses and closing out bank accounts to gain civic aid was issued yesterday by Hon. David Croll, Welfare Minister of Ontario.

"The town seems to have been running wild in relief administration in the easy confidence we would foot the bill," he said. "They're in for a jolt. Every mispent cent will be charged back to their own taxpayers."

The minister announced provincial relief grants to the town would be reduced $8,500 because investigation had shown "another municipality squandering provincial funds on unneeded assistance."

MARKS ON TIRES
Olean, N.Y., Oct. 28 (Canadian Press).—City Judge Joseph A. Nevins said he was not sure police had the right to make chalk marks on automobile tires, so he discharged Alfred Hagblom, twenty-four, of Quincy, Mass., accused of erasing marks put on his tires by a traffic officer to record his parking time.

A Good Showing

THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE which Hon. Eric Hamber delivered yesterday afternoon was one of the best to which the assembly has listened for many years. True, these pronouncements are more conspicuous for what they do not contain than for what they do, but there was a good deal of "meat" in yesterday's Speech.

The Minister of Finance, Hon. John Hart, was able to announce a cash surplus of $2,619,176 on current operations for the year, inclusive of some outlays on capital account and that total revenues for the year were $25,862,077, and total budgeted expenditures $23,242,901.

The Minister of Finance is entitled to feel that he has done a good job. He sticks to his "knitting" and does not indulge in political theatricals. The province of British Columbia has reason to be satisfied with its Minister of Finance.

A Ticklish Problem

THERE OUGHT TO BE SOME ARRANGEMENT between this province and the Dominion Government whereby the unfortunate who drift into British Columbia at this time of the year, because our climatic conditions impose less hardships on them, could be adequately provided for.

It would appear that some of our taxpayers think so much about extraneous political matters that they forget there is, after all, this fundamental problem.

There are only a few more than 700,000 people in British Columbia, and the point is that while we all are glad to welcome others if they are able to "keep" themselves; if such newcomers are to be merely "drifters" who automatically become public charges, some sort of an arrangement at the eastern border should be reached.

This is always a ticklish point; but, sooner or later, it will have to be faced and dealt with.

Get Down to Earth

WHEN WE ARE AFRAID OF A thing, we hate to hear its name used. And so it happens that the words "Cancer," "Tuberculosis," are more or less taboo. We shy away from these, as if merely to mention them would somehow bring its menace a little closer.

A reminder of this came during recent sessions of the American Roentgen Ray Society in Cleveland. Three Philadelphia specialists addressed the X-ray experts on the question whether cancer sufferers should be told frankly that they have the malady.

The conclusion was that in most cases they should. The man who knows that he has a cancer will at least do all he can to get cured. If he does not realize what is wrong with him, he is apt to go on putting off treatment until it is too late for anything to help him. Evidently sensible, you say? To be sure—and yet it is the sort of advice which we seem to have an instinctive tendency to ignore.

There are certain diseases which we simply will not talk about. We actually seem to try to pretend that they do not exist. The ostrich is not the only two-legged creature that likes to hide its head in the sand. We have the same habit. And because some of these diseases could be brought under control if we would face them frankly—we pay a frightful cost for it.

We will not talk about cancer, or even admit that it exists, if we can help it. We will not talk or write about some "social" diseases—although you would not be exaggerating very much if you said that this was in some respects the greatest problem that faces the race today. Syphilis, for example, is both preventable and curable. A proper programme of public education, utilizing to the full all that medical science has been able to find out about the disease, could wipe this scourge of humanity off the books—or, at least, could reduce it to manageable proportions. But will we stand for such a programme? Perhaps not! If a newspaper or a magazine as much as mentions it, many feel offended. If a public speaker touches on it, we feel that he has made a bad social error. We do our level best to pretend that there is no such disease, or that, if there is, it is not especially important. Yet a reliable authority tells us that there are 10,000,000 cases of the disease on this continent, with 400,000 new ones developing each year!

And so we go on, paying a horrible price in insanity, progressive physical deterioration, and death. We spend millions for asylums for the insane, workhouses, poor farms, and hospitals which this disease makes necessary. In some supremely stupid way we seem to find this better than facing the issue frankly, and doing what is necessary to get the malady under control.

Still the Master

MODERN METHODS OF SHIP construction and design, and the activity of governments in providing a host of aids to navigation, have removed many of the hazards from the sailor's life. But there must always be an element of danger in following the sea, and the danger remains despite all precautions that can be taken—on island waters as well as on the open ocean.

A grim reminder of the fact comes with the foundering in Lake Erie of the steamer Sand Merchant. She was a modern steel steamer of 3,000 tons, built in 1927. She was on a short run—Lake Erie is not so very large—and was actually within sight of the harbor lights of Cleveland when a storm struck her. The waves simply overwhelmed her, and she foundered with the loss of nineteen lives. It is the old, old story of the sea again. Despite the best that man can do, the sea is still his master when it chooses to be.

He Knew the Sea

THERE WILL BE MUCH SORROW today among those men who go down to the sea in ships. Commodore Sir Edgar Britten lies dead at Southampton. He was the master of the Queen of the Seas—the Queen Mary. Comparatively speaking, he was a young man, for he was still under sixty-three.

Just after the turn of the century, Sir Edgar Britten entered the service of the Cunard Line. But he was a youth of eighteen when he first went to sea—back in 1892. He had a flair for the ocean waves. He is described as a grey-eyed, square-jawed Yorkshireman, inclined to taciturnity, but with a dry sense of humor. And it is on the records that when he first saw the Queen Mary, he suggested "she's a pretty fine ship." That would be a Yorkshireman.

Before he went to his last rest, Sir Edgar Britten had been able to reflect that it was he, in the "pretty fine ship," who returned to his native land the "blue riband" of the Atlantic. The old Mauritania held that mythical trophy for many years. French, German and Italian ships snatched it away from her. Then came the Queen Mary.

The "grey-eyed, square-jawed" Yorkshireman will be saluted in sorrow today—he of the "blue riband."

Poor Soil for "Shirtism"

GREAT BRITAIN HAS HER MOSLEYITES, imitating the "shirtists" of continental Europe, but now we are informed that another "misguided American" is trying to raise a private army in the United States after the manner of German and Italian Fascists.

Says one commentator: "This time it is a New Yorker. He is out to enroll some 600,000 men who would be uniformed, drilled, and equipped with rifles, and who, it was reported, would stand by to combat 'the growing influence of Jews and Reds.'"

"The mere idea of a high-pressure, irresponsible, strong-arm outfit such as this would make cold shivers run down one's back if it were not for the obvious fact that nobody can out such a thing over in this country."

"The American people know what Americanism means; no one ever can persuade them that it means anything like this pipe-dream. It is worth mentioning only to emphasize once more how utterly and everlastingly un-American such projects are."

There is no room on this continent—any more than there is in any part of the British Empire—for the upstart who conceives the idea that he can remould the thoughts and actions of an enlightened people by the regimented display of a fancy shirt. Incidentally, of course, shirt manufacturers may think it good business—but, we presume, even they realize that a shirt demand of this type is a very temporary affair. The real shirt, the shirt of democracy, is their best bet.

It Was Well Done

WHAT IS CALLED, IN THE VERBAL, "opening" the Legislature, is not a sinecure, by any means. It is not even a sinecure when it has been the custom of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor for several sessions.

We mention this because Hon. Eric Hamber "opened" the House yesterday as the manner born. He was dignity personified. His Windsor uniform fitted very nicely.

British Columbia has reason to be proud of the man who represents His Majesty in this province.

Anti-War Move?

OPONENTS OF WAR WHO HAVE insisted that the makers of munitions often help to bring on war may have a chance to test the accuracy of their contention in France before long.

There the Blum government has moved to nationalize the munitions industry. If the programme is put into effect, France will be free of the "merchants of death." All munitions of war will be made by the government. No armament salesman will have any reason to try to edge the French into a war.

Will that insure peace? One would like to be hopeful about it, but it does seem that the munitions business is only one of many factors that may work for war.

In the case of the French, at least, the other factors seem to be infinitely more important. But the world wants no more Sir Basil Zaharoff!

Notes

More sailors than ever will be crossing the bar if the move succeeds for female bar-tenders in New York's gin and jitter joints.

So thickly were the streets of an eastern city littered with torn paper after a veterans' parade that the local newspaper in describing it could say "one would almost think a dictator had been going through some treatise."

Column Three

THE BEAUTIFUL blonde sat in the wicker chair. The prosecutor pointed a finger at her, which was bad etiquette but good prosecuting. "Where were you," he thundered, "on the night of February first?"

"I was to a wild-penthouse party," returned the blonde happily. "Oh, boy, that was some party."

"And where were you," the attorney went on, "on the night of February second?"

"I was enjoying myself at a swell party," replied the blonde. "And say, did we have fun?"

"And where were you," persisted the attorney. "On the night of February third?"

"To a wild house party," enthused the blonde. "And, boy, what a party that was!"

The prosecutor lost his patience. "See here," he growled, "Do you mean to tell this court that all you do is go to a different wild party every night?"

The blonde looked up innocently. "I never said any such thing," she cried modestly. "This was all the same party!"

BUSINESS was slow, and the barber decided to shave himself. His assistant looked on idly. The barber appeared very careless. He cut himself in a dozen different spots—and his assistant grew worried.

"Watch out," he told his boss. "You're cutting yourself with that razor. Be careful!"

The boss shrugged. "What for?" he said nonchalantly. "I'm not a paying customer!"

WHY IS IT that you encourage all of your clerks to get married?

"Well," replied the knowing boss, I find that married men are not in such an awful rush to get home early as single men."

THE REAL estate man had shown the prospect everything in the country he thought he would be interested in buying. However, none seemed to suit. Finally the realtor took him to an old worn-out farm and told him the price.

The fellow looked at it and appeared interested, then asked:

"But what'll I raise here to get my money back?"

"Raise the price like I did," replied the real estate dealer.

THE YOUNG man was making his first appearance on the air. He gazed at the announcer.

"Is this," he asked timidly, "a coast-to-coast hook-up?"

"What's the difference?" asked the other man. "What's the difference?" repeated the novice. "Why I want to know how loud to speak!"

ON THE BEACH at Coney Island. A middle-aged gentleman was sprawled out on the sand. Also came a six-year-old kiddie who decided to amuse himself by pouring sand down the stranger's ear.

The man sat up with a muffled oath. "Look here," he growled. "What's the idea of pouring sand down my ear?"

The kid looked a trifle worried. "I'm sorry," he apologized. "I thought you were fast asleep!"

A FISH STORY THAT'S TRUE

From The New York Journal

Picture the embarrassment of Saul White, sixty-year-old deep sea fisherman, when he hooked a blue off the Jersey coast and an eight-foot 500-pound shark went after the same fish and leaped in his boat.

There was Mr. White, dodging the shark's gleaming teeth and thrashing tail in the stern of the boat. And there was the shark, battling for dear life to smash the frail craft to smithereens. Other fishermen came to the rescue of the intrepid Mr. White, who had no liking for his deep sea passenger, but by that time the shark had rolled over and died.

The big cannibal fish had hit himself on the head so hard that he'd committed suicide. Well, there's the greatest fish story of the year—or any other year for that matter.

And—believe it or not, Mr. Ripley—it's true.

TOO HOT TO FIGURE THIS

From The St. Catharines Standard

The Christian Science Monitor republishes from a financial paper the plaintive protest of a correspondent who submitted the following data: Estimated population of United States 124,000,000 Subject to old-age pensions under the Townsend plan 50,000,000

Balance 74,000,000 Minors ineligible to work under the child labor laws 60,000,000

Balance 14,000,000 Number of unemployed, according to Father Coughlin 13,999,998

Leaving the number to produce the country's requirements 2

ARRANGED BY PROVIDENCE

There's no harm in a boy kissing his girl, and the moon was pined in the sky by the providence just for lovers. Electric lights would be profane—Mayor Frank Martin, Hammond, Ind.

KNEW WHICH ONE WAS RIGHT

From The Portland Express

"What are those two men arguing about?" "I don't know, but I can tell you who is right."

WILD LIFE TAKES ITS TOLL IN INDIA

From The London Times

Wild animals and snakes caused the death of 1,352 people in the central provinces, India, last year. Snakes killed 1,207, tigers thirty-three, leopards and panthers twenty-eight, and other wild animals eighty-four.

KINGLY GENEROSITY?

From The London News Chronicle

For some years it has been said that the ranch was not showing a profit, and it was rumored early this year that the King might give it to one of his brothers.

CAN THIS BE TRUE?

From The Goderich Star

There are farms in Ontario today that have the fields fenced off with fine cedar rails or poles, stretched lengthwise, and these rails are worth more to the farmer than the farm itself.

Letters to The Editor

A REMARKABLE TROUP

To the Editor:—I wonder if the Victoria public realizes its extreme good fortune in being offered the opportunity of hearing that remarkable troupe, the Don Cossetti Choir. I have heard it three or four times in Paris and New York, and each time have been increasingly impressed with its brilliant artistry. After talking with various Victorians, I realize that the outstanding qualities of this chorus may not be generally appreciated here. Perhaps this personal recommendation from one may help to stimulate such interest that it may receive well-deserved and generous support.

C. F. ARMSTRONG, York Place, Victoria.

AIM OF YOUTH GROUP

To the Editor:—It has been clearly stated by officers and members of the Young Citizens' League that this organization is composed of young Canadians who are absolutely loyal to the Dominion. They believe that by assisting in checking Communism and revolutionary Socialism (which are both opposed to democracy as known in Canada) among the youths of this country, they are helping to preserve free democracy for the future.

If your fair-minded readers really wish to learn something of this new youth group, the best they can do is to question some members or officers of this organization, and obtain the truth.

"YOUNG CANADIAN"

Courtenay, B.C.

PRIZE-ESSAY COMPETITION

To the Editor:—In today's paper I note reference to a contest for essays on Lord Lothian's lecture, "Pacifism is Not Enough," and infer that a similar notice was inserted ten days ago, which escaped my reading.

It was my intention to have the offer impersonal, but as my name has been mentioned, it is perhaps permissible for me to state that it was my idea to offer a much larger prize than the sum mentioned in case any really notable manuscript should be forthcoming; also, that I feel two months to be quite too short a time to allow for so important a subject.

There are less than a dozen copies of this booklet still unsold at the office of the League of Nations Society and a long time will be required for these to circulate among all who may wish to write.

Health permitting, I shall hope to give a lecture on this subject early next week, under the rather strange title, "Pacifism Prepaid."

H. H. WILCOX, Uplands.

"PROPHECY UNFULFILLED"

To the Editor:—I have just had brought to my notice a letter from "Justifiedly Septic," which appeared in your paper of September 20. The writer quotes from The Cowman Leader certain statements which I am supposed to have made in connection with the prophecies of Joel, September 16.

Those who have heard me will remember I warned them most emphatically not to expect anything startling to happen on September 16, and told them I would be very surprised if anything noticeable would occur then. I quoted from an article written by the head of the Silver Legion in the United States, in which he warned the legion that the stock markets would crash on or before September 16, and that there would be a revolution in the United States.

I certainly did not in any way connect this letter with Joel, but was just showing what some people expected.

I am sorry the press wrongly reported my address, but, as I never saw their report, was unable to contradict it.

E. F. ASHLEY COOPER, 118 Menzies Street.

HARMONIOUS HARVESTERS' THANKS

To the Editor:—Through the medium of your valuable columns may I on behalf of the Harmonious Harvesters, thank the people of Victoria for the wonderful support given to our Monday night performances during the recent season.

ROGER "CRIPPLE" PERULLET, 440 Dupplin Road.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

From The Cincinnati Engineer

The modern husband does not know anything about the real horrors of housecleaning. He should have lived back in the days when it meant pulling the tacks out of all the carpets, dragging 'em out to the line, beating the daylight out of 'em, then dragging 'em back and getting 'em tacked down again!

QUESTION: Can a man obtain a divorce from his wife on the ground of cruelty?

ANSWER: Cruelty is no ground for divorce in this country, but there is no law to prevent him from going home to his mother.

TRANS-PACIFIC FLIGHT

By DECK MORGAN

Copyright, 1936

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KAY DUNN, young woman, is hired as a stewardess on Overseas Airways and, the same day, meets TED GILMAN, veteran pilot who flies the Trans-Pacific route.

Kay is assigned to the western division of the service. MONTY BLAINE, an apprentice pilot, pays her marked attention. Monte is dashing, romantic, but Kay is more interested in Ted. She and Dickie, Ted's adopted seven-year-old son, become close friends.

Ted returns from a trip to the Orient and tells Kay that he has a long talk in which he explains his views on marriage. To be successful, he says, a marriage must be planned scientifically, just as a plane flight. Kay does not agree to all this, but when he asks her to marry him, she says "yes."

The marriage takes place and the honeymoon, a trip to the Orient by plane, is a glamorous adventure. Afterward, with Ted away from home for weeks at a time, Kay is lonely. She writes to Ted, but he never answers and for Dickie, Ted's adopted son, she is a puzzle.

CHAPTER XV

For five months Kay's life was made up of long, uneventful weeks of waiting for Ted's return, interspersed by brief and delightful days when he was at home.

Together they wasted time gloriously whenever he had as much as a week ashore—idling on the beach, fishing in the high Sierras, climbing in the Yosemite Valley. Once the three of them—Kay, Dickie and Ted—flew to Southern California and spent two days in Hollywood.

But soon Ted began to spend all his spare hours in his workshop at the airport. He was putting final touches to the gyropilot, hoping to use the robot on a trial flight across the Pacific. The minute he came in from his regular duties on the line he would lock himself in the workshop and stay all day, sometimes late into the night.

Kay tried to overcome her loneliness, told herself that when Ted had finished work on the gyropilot he would be his old self again. Then they would have more good times. But one night he came home, more tired than usual. He sat down on the divan and Kay brought him slippers. It was one of the things she liked to do for him, but he forgot to reward her with a kiss.

"I had a physical examination today," he announced. "The doctor says I've been working too much ashore. Got to plan things more scientifically from now on. On the Trans-Pacific flight we have everything worked out. Certain hours for sleep, the proper diet, the proper exercise. That's the way it should be."

Kay said, "I should think that when you're ashore you'd want to break all that routine. It sounds monotonous to me."

He gave her an indulgent smile that made her hands feel hot with rising rebellion.

"I'm going to bed every night at 11 o'clock," he said. "Eight hours of sleep. Then some setting-up exercises. And I've got to eat out some of that heavy food you've been giving me for breakfast. Fruit juice, coffee, toast and two eggs from now on."

"Doctor's orders are law with me," she said.

"Of course I'll have to change my whole diet, but I'll leave that up to you. You can go over to the airport and talk to the dietitian. I have only eaten one of her meals."

Kay said, "But it was tasteless."

Ted did not seem to hear. "For a well-ordered life," he went on, "I ought to take up some sport, too." Suddenly his eyes glowed. "I have it! If I eat lunch at the airport, I'll save enough time so that I can play golf with Jerry at four."

"But you've never played golf! Why don't you come home and exercise with a medicine ball on the beach—with Dickie and me?"

The doctor says golf is the scientific game," Ted said. "It co-ordinates the mind and muscles and trains the reflexes for flying. It's better for my job."

Kay said, "Are you planning a pioneer flight around the world for Trans-Pacific Airways, or are you planning a scientific household?"

"Both," he told her eagerly. "One goes with the other."

"But, Ted," Kay protested, "even when you're in port you'll be away from home almost all day! You sit down beside him, leaning her head against his shoulder. "You're out there over the ocean most of the time, anyway. Give me a little of your time!"

"Darling," he said, stroking her head. But he didn't change his plans. "Couldn't I learn to play golf with you?" she asked presently.

He frowned. "I'd love to have you, Kay, but you see, at the club, they're mostly men. The flying personnel. I need the contacts with them, of the job. It improves the morale of the force."

"I see," she said. "But I'm going to learn to play golf, too. I'm going to be a professional tomorrow."

He looked at her again. "Go ahead!" he said. "More power to you. By the way, I've got a budget here in my pocket that ought to help you run the house more easily."

Kay looked down at the neat rows of figures and her eyes opened wide. "Ted, that's not enough for cosmetics! And look at the allowance for candy and chewing gum! Dickie would eat that up in a week."

"That reminds me," Ted said. "I think Dickie had better have a little more scientific training, too. He's hanging around the airport too much. And he tells awful tales to the pilots. Why, Kay, he imagines things. Who is this brother who takes him up in the air?"

Kay laughed. "That's just a figment of Dickie's imagination. He was so lonely at the military school that he had to live in his imagination. He invented a brother for company."

"But he must be taught the truth—scientific truths. I'll have a talk with that young man!"

"Oh, Ted, don't! You might—"

She stopped suddenly, because she heard Dickie's footsteps on the stairs. A moment later the child precipitated himself into the room with a shriek of high glee.

"Pai!" he said to Kay; "did you see that hydroplane across the bay? That was my brother. He waved at me and I waved—"

Dickie saw Ted then and hushed. He dropped his head, said quietly, "Hello, Ted." He came into the room and sat down. Kay put her fingers on Ted's lips, binding him to silence.

Kay tried to adjust herself to the new, scientific regime. She planned the days. She got up at 7 every morning, in time to see Dickie off to school. She took beauty exercises by radio, then went to cooking school. In the afternoon she took a golf lesson from the professional.

She joined two clubs, with the result that she played bridge in the colony almost every afternoon, whether or not Ted was in port. And, because she was interested in the new novels, she joined a weekly club where younger matrons met to discuss literature.

It was there that she met Mrs. Watts, who was not really a younger matron. Mrs. Watts was the mother of five children and seemed to be well versed in child psychology; a subject often discussed by the club.

"My dear," she said one day to Kay, "your marriage seems so romantic. And you have that darling Dickie—but he must be a problem."

"Dickie?" Kay said. "Why, he's a sweet, obedient child. I don't know a sweeter one."

Mrs. Watts smiled, stirred her tea primly. "That's what we all think, my dear—until we learn."

"Learn?"

"My dear, there is a child psychology school in Oakland. I must take you there and enroll you. On our way home we'll stop at my house and I'll lend you some books. There are three volumes in the course—all there is to know about children. I'm sure Dickie must be a problem. Why, his mother—his real mother—died when he was born. And his father, they say, flew a plane in a circus."

"Of course, I know all that," Kay said, laughing. "Ted told me. And perhaps Dickie is a problem. He spends too much time at the airport, and he's taken to telling wild tales of things he imagines."

Mrs. Watts made a grimace. "That's the first sign!" she said. "His psyche needs looking after as well as his body."

"I'll be glad to enroll for the course," Kay told her. She felt grateful to Mrs. Watts.

On the way home they stopped for the books, and Mrs. Watts accompanied Kay home for a second cup of tea. It was not more than five minutes before Dickie arrived, running into the house. He had stopped at the airport and his face and clothes were smeared with grease. Jerry, the mechanic, followed, apologetic.

"But when Jerry saw Mrs. Watts he turned to go. Kay had to call after him. "Thanks for bringing Dickie home!"

The older woman peered through the curtains at Jerry's retreating figure. "That man," she said, "doesn't look to me like the sort I'd want to trust a child with."

Kay only laughed. She arose to get Dickie his bread and jam, and when she returned Mrs. Watts eyed her, obviously horrified. Dickie had been telling a tale which he repeated now to Kay.

"My brother," he announced, "has a seaplane bigger than a hotel. Yesterday he and I flew all the way to China. We killed eight pirates and cut off their heads with butcher knives." He swung his arms about, emphasizing the bloody details.

Mrs. Watts cried out, "Who is this brother?"

"Kay shook her head, denying the tale. "Dickie," she said easily, "eat your jam now." When he ran out of the room shortly afterward, Mrs. Watts arose and began to walk the floor.

"He is a problem child!" she said ominously. "You must make your decision now. If something isn't done, the child's life may be blighted!"

Long after Mrs. Watts had departed Kay thought of what she had said. The word "blighted" frightened her and she began to worry. Even Ted had been alarmed by Dickie's stories.

"She's rather taking it from the years before dinner, but she couldn't find it in her heart to destroy his precious illusions."

"Dickie," she said, "let's play. We'll just pretend. Remember, this isn't real. I'll pretend I'm your brother and you pretend that you can fly an airplane."

But I've already been up in the air once today," Dickie told her. "I looped-the-loop ten times. Then I jumped out in a parachute and landed on the beach."

Tears rushed to Kay's eyes and she hugged Dickie closer to her. Then she stood for a long time before the window, gazing at the sea. Emotion choked her. She was frightened.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERD

To those of us who love to read it is not at all strange to find even a year-old child exhibiting a marked enjoyment when read to. That fussy period which so often characterizes the late afternoon for tired children, is the made-to-order time for this soothing and restful pastime.

The requirements for those first books are few. They should be colorful and bright, with pictures which are easy to look at and to understand. This means that they should be of good size and without much background detail. The sentences which accompany the pictures should be rhythmic if not actually rhymed, and they should be read in a soft, musical but definitely inflected way. This musical rendition, rather than the meaning, is the attraction for the young listener.

The baby will not be contented for long, but it is amazing how rapidly the child develops an appreciation for the reading. If a page is missed the baby will note it, and once the book is started he is resigned to going through with it, every single page.

It is by such means—though that is not the object—that children learn their rhymes. The child who is certain even while he is hearing the same rhymes in daily repetition, will eventually know where the rhyme is in the book, by its accompanying illustration, and when he begins to talk will be able to repeat it.

ENOYS READING CEREMONY

No one knows exactly how much meaning the words come to have for the child. But we do know that he enjoys the ceremony of being read to and such an emotion is certain to insure that in future years, when words do have meaning, reading will be connected in the child's mind with rest, with harmonious sounds and with the memory of a precious communion with the parent.

"Books for the Permanent Library" will help you to choose wisely these first books for children. Send a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope to Myrtle Meyer Elderd of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper requesting the leaflet by name.

Open Addition To Nurses' Home

Ganges, Oct. 28.—Members of the Board, representatives of the Ladies' Auxiliary and residents of the island met at the Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital, Ganges, on Saturday afternoon for the formal opening of the new addition to the nurses' home. The ceremony was performed by Mrs. P. de N. Walker, wife of the deputy provincial secretary, Victoria, who was introduced by W. M. Mount, chairman of the board.

The addition consists of three bedrooms and bathroom.

At a special meeting of the executive of the Ganges Chapter I.O.G.E. arrangements were made for Cecil Ley of Victoria to address a meeting at Harbor House, at 8.15, on Thursday, October 29. He will speak on the Vimy Pilgrimage.

A five-acre property at Fernwood, north Salt Spring Island, fronting on to the Trincome Channel, has been purchased from Eric Nelson by Mr. Roy of Vancouver, who intends to build shortly.

The Misses Shirley and Bride Wilson were hostesses on Saturday evening at a party given in honor of the birthday of their father, Norman W. Wilson, and that of a friend of the family, Mrs. Basil Wolfe-Merton. The party was held at the Wilson's summer camp at Welby Bay.

A record crowd is expected to attend the Tourist Trade Development Association Winter Fair at the Armories this afternoon and evening, as the entertainment programme and the midway games reach full swing.

Today's entertainment includes: Cowboy and Indian duo, 2.30 o'clock; Pierrot and Pierrette, 3 o'clock; cooking demonstration, 2.30 to 4 o'clock; Cowboy and Indian duo, 4 o'clock; Pierrot and Pierrette, 4.45 o'clock; Cowboy and Indian duo, 7 o'clock; Curley's Harmonious Harpists, 7.30 o'clock; Show Boat Baby Sextette in "Sons of the Sea" and "Caroline," assisted by Mattie and Vern, dancers, 8.45 o'clock; Harmonious Harpists, 9.45 o'clock, and drawing of door-prizes for the evening, 10.45 o'clock.

A public address system carries announcements and entertainment features to all parts of the Armories. Bakers and a variety of games on the midway, and the traditional color of hot-dogs and yodelling of a lemonade vendor, add to the spirit of festivity at the fair.

MODEL KITCHEN

A model kitchen on a raised platform gave a large number of women an excellent view of Mrs. M. A. Foulds' cooking demonstration yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Foulds was assisted by Mrs. F. M. Novis. One range and refrigerator were used in preparing roast chicken and vegetables, milk chocolate cake and cookies.

The food was distributed to winners in a contest at the end of the demonstration.

The class, sponsored by the home service department, B.C. Electric Railway Company, will be held every day this week from 2.30 to 4 o'clock. A contest for the best uniced cake has been announced in connection with the class, and entry blanks can be obtained at the B.C. Electric store, Douglas Street.

Twelve full-grown monkeys and a baby are attracting attention at the fair. The monkeys, in four cages, are from Java, Fiji Islands, Brazil, India and Africa, and are in charge of Roy Buckles. The oldest monkey weighs only a pound and looks more like a baby monkey, but has travelled three times around the world. The monkeys are fed on peanuts, raw potatoes and fruit.

SIX PRIZE WINNERS
Winners of door-prizes yesterday evening were: Miss Laura Tibbo, 309 Linden Avenue; J. E. Wyatt, 960 Queens Avenue; Kenneth Robinson, 1706 Denman Street; J. Carr, Langford; Mrs. McNutt, Marigold; G. NO RECOGNITION

Lisbon, Oct. 28 (Canadian Press from Havas).—The Portuguese government today officially denied reports that it planned to recognize the Spanish insurgent provisional government, established at Burgos.

"Sambo," said the magistrate, reproachfully, to the negro, "I cannot conceive of a meaner, more cowardly act than yours of deserting your wife. Do you realize you are a deserter?" "Sah, if you knowed dat lady as I does," replied Sambo, "you woudn't call me no deserter. Ah is a refugee."

HEAT STROKE NOT JUST HOT WEATHER AILMENT; MAY OCCUR AT ANY TIME

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
The summer of 1936 was one of the hottest on record. In the United States, the number of cases of heat stroke was greater than the average.

It should be remembered that heat stroke occurs not only in extremely hot weather, but may occur at any time in factories, laundry rooms, and kitchens where people work in extreme heat as isolated with considerable moisture.

The symptoms Dr. M. Fishbein of heat stroke seem to come suddenly on people outdoors because they are unaware of the effects of the heat. In most instances, the condition comes on gradually.

The person who is about to suffer a heat stroke feels weak and tired, gets dizzy and then drowsy. His digestion may be disturbed and he may have pain in his abdomen. Gradually he develops a fever, his pulse becomes rapid and his skin dry, hot and flushed.

The pupils of his eyes are usually contracted or small. Associated with these symptoms is rapid and noisy breathing. In many cases of heat stroke, the pupils of the victim's eyes widen or dilate just before death.

As I have already said in previous columns in this series, the unconsciousness of heat stroke is occasionally confused with that resulting from drugs, bleeding, diabetes, changes in blood circulation, or epilepsy.

To avoid heat stroke, keep as cool as possible. In exceedingly hot weather wear light clothing, loose and porous. While working in an especially hot atmosphere, make certain that clothing is light, so that unnecessary heat is not retained in the body.

Taking cool baths at frequent intervals, or even washing the face and hands with cool water, will cool the body. Adequate sleep helps fortify the body for the unusual strain associated with heat.

People in a hot atmosphere will drink plenty of water because of the excessive evaporation of water from the surface of the body. They should remember, however, that this evaporation also causes the body to lose salt.

In industries in which people work under conditions of extreme heat, arrangements now are generally made to provide drinking water with a small amount of added salt to prevent dangerous results. A solution of water containing about 1 per cent salt has been found quite successful in preventing heat exhaustion.

In case of heat exhaustion, the first thing to do is to get the person into a cool place and keep him absolutely quiet and flat on his back. Sponging with cool water will help control his temperature.

It may be necessary to give him coffee, to stimulate his blood. A doctor will administer all other necessary stimulants by injecting them into the body with a hypodermic syringe.

Tropical authorities recommend that the victim be placed on a bed covered with a large rubber sheet. Then ice and cold water are rubbed over the body. At the same time the rubbing with the ice will encourage blood circulation.

The temperature should be taken regularly with a thermometer inserted into the lower bowel. If his temperature falls below 101 degrees, the cold application is stopped, the patient is covered with blankets, and the condition of his circulation is studied carefully to make certain that he does not collapse.

If the victim of heat exhaustion stops breathing, it is necessary to apply artificial respiration to keep the lungs ventilated.

After a person improves from heat stroke, he is given plenty of nutritious food and fluids to aid rapid recovery.

People who travel in the summer, particularly those using trains or trailers, should remember that ventilation is of greatest importance. It is better under conditions of extreme heat to sit in an open coach with free circulation of air than in the smaller compartments and drawing rooms.

In a trailer the windows should be arranged to permit constant circulation of air and thus prevent exhaustion due to heat.

This Safe, External Treatment Helps END A COLD Quicker

The 3-Minute VapoRub Massage

Massage VapoRub briskly on the throat, chest and back (between and below the shoulder blades). Then spread it thick over the chest and cover with warm cloth.

Almost before you finish rubbing, VapoRub starts to bring relief two ways at once—two direct ways:

1. Through the Skin. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster.

2. Medicated Vapors. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in for hours—about 18 times a minute—direct to the irritated air-passages. This combined poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation—helps break congestion.

During the night, VapoRub keeps right on working. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Avoids Risk of Stomach Upsets This safe, external treatment cannot possibly upset the stomach, as constant internal "dosing" is so apt to do. It can be used freely, as often as needed, even on the youngest child.

VICK'S VAPORUB

Mother's Look in your VapoRub package for full details of Vicks Plan—a practical home guide to greater freedom from colds. In clinic tests among 17,353 people, this Plan cut sickness from colds more than half!

Help YOUR EYES to EASE

Reading or working under a poor light invites serious eyestrain. Fortunately, it's easy to avoid: see that every lamp in every socket tallies in wattage with those recommended on the chart alongside. Laco Mazda Lamps will help your eyes to ease because they provide full light for the power they consume. Buy them in lots of six and have lamps for emergencies.

To avoid eye strain, use bulbs this size:

- 100-WATTS For large, single-bulb reading lamps, also kitchen, laundry.
- 60-WATTS For two-bulb and small single socket reading lamps.
- 40-WATTS For three-bulb reading lamps, also wall and ceiling lights.

Harmless Fun On Hallowe'en

City Will Sponsor Bonfires in Parks

During the celebration of Hallowe'en this year, city police will not tolerate any pranks involving property damage, and boys and girls taking part in any such pranks will be prosecuted. Police Chief Heatley said this morning.

The police are also making a special appeal to young people to bear in mind the misfortunes of others and keep away from hospitals and homes for the sick with their fire-crackers.

"We have no desire to interfere with the children in their fun," the chief said, "but any mean pranks which result in damage to property will result in prosecutions if the culprits are found."

The chief said hospital officials and operators of nursing homes had made a special request that care be taken to see their premises are not annoyed. The chief asked that parents impress this point particularly on the children.

Locations at which bonfires will be lighted in the city-sponsored Hallowe'en jamboree on Saturday night, were decided at a meeting of Acting Mayor James Adam with the chiefs of the police and fire departments and representatives of city parent-teacher associations Monday.

In the Gonzales Bay district James Walker and D. R. Mackay will be in charge of the bonfire at the corner of Brooke and St. Charles Streets.

Other centres will be Heywood Avenue football field, Stadacona Park, Victoria West School football field and Oaklands School ground.

Under present plans, prizes will be given in each district for the best home-made jack-o-lantern and the best costume.

Vic. Shoemaker, boys' workers secretary of the Y.M.C.A., together with association leaders and Victoria High School seniors will organize a series of group games for the evening. Supervision will also be given by police officials.

The functions are expected to start at 7.30 o'clock.

KIPLING ATTACK AGAIN DISCUSSED

Discussion of a disparaging remark of Oliver B. Edwin, son of the British Premier, with reference to recent work of Kipling was continued by the Victoria Kipling Society at its monthly meeting last night.

In an address in England Mr. Baldwin had said that Kipling had become hard and embittered following the death of his son and had created nothing of any value after that time.

He had also referred to the short story "Mary Postgate" as "the wickedest story ever written."

At the society's previous meeting members had analyzed "Mary Postgate" and come to the conclusion it was not at all a wicked story. Last night, under the leadership of P. R. Leighton, they attacked the other half of Mr. Baldwin's comment.

Mr. Leighton quoted extensively from Kipling's writings after the death of his son, and showed that he had done much fine work at that time.

"The Debt," a short story in Kipling's old style, was read to the meeting by C. V. Milton. Miss M. Joyce and Mr. Leighton read selections from poems. The meeting concluded with a general discussion of Kipling's work led by A. E. G. Cornwell, president.

Air conditioning mechanism can be installed in any house, new or old.

CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

Twenty-five Years Ago Today

OCTOBER 28, 1911
(From The Times Files)

That there will be a contest in the majority election in January next was made known this morning when J. L. Beckwith announced his intention of becoming a candidate for mayor in opposition to Mayor Morley.

A report from the special committee with reference to the Dallas Road sea wall was read and adopted at the City Council last evening, and a by-law was duly announced to raise an additional $45,000 for the work.

Cecile Tuohy was elected captain of the High School rugby team yesterday and Alan Clarke vice-president. These two and George Dickson will form a selection committee.

During a dense fog which hung over the Seattle waterfront about midnight, the steamer Quigley, Capt. Carter, which arrived in port early this morning, crashed into the freighter Multnomah, cutting her almost in two and sending her to the bottom.

In order to tide over the time until the cluster lighting is installed on Government Street between Cormorant and Humboldt Streets, the City Council last evening passed a resolution to permit the property owners to install a temporary system till the other system is available. The city will supply the current.

"I FIND LIFE VERY AGREEABLE"

Indeed, you should, lovely lady! You have no complexities, no uncertainties to worry your pretty head. Yours is the freedom of intelligent living—for you are one of those thousands of modern Canadian women who know the facts about proper antiseptic feminine hygiene. Your medicine cabinet contains "Lysol" Disinfectant in the brown bottle in the sealed orange carton—your reassurance of antiseptic cleanliness.

LYSOL HAS THESE SIX SPECIAL FEATURES

1. Safety... "Lysol" is gentle and reliable. It contains no harmful free caustic alkali.
2. Effectiveness... "Lysol" is a true germicide which means that it kills germs under practical conditions—even in the presence of organic matter (such as dirt, mucus, sebum, pus, etc.). Some other preparations are not effective when they meet with these conditions.
3. Pervasiveness... "Lysol" solutions, because of their low surface tension, spread into hidden folds of the skin, and thus virtually reach out germs.
4. Economy... "Lysol" because it is concentrated, costs less than one cent an application in the proper solution for antiseptic feminine hygiene.
5. Odor... The clean odor of "Lysol" disappears immediately after use.
6. Stability... "Lysol" keeps its full strength, no matter how long it is kept, no matter how often it is uncorked.

'TNT' WAY TO SLAM

Tierney No Trump Force Asks for Ace by Partner; Positive Response Brings High Contract

By WM. E. MCKENNEY

In yesterday's article, the use of an opening bid of no trump as an "asking bid," forcing for one round, was discussed, and the hand illustrated the response by partner when his holding was a bust.

In today's hand, another type of response to the question involved in the first round force is shown—a major suit bid of two, and an eventual slam contract.

SOLUTION TO PREVIOUS CONTRACT PROBLEM

South's hand is much above the minimum required for the opening no trump forcing bid, North's response of two hearts shows that he holds at least one quick trick and from three and a half to four playing tricks, with hearts as trumps.

When South then bids three diamonds, North's response of three hearts is designed to show that he has a heart suit of at least five cards.

The bid of four no trump in the "TNT" system requires a response of six in the agreed suit, if the partner has one ace. As North has not supported diamonds, the agreed suit is hearts; so North bids six hearts, which, of course, is made easily.

This hand would no doubt be bid to a slam by users of almost any bidding system, but a study of the bids will reveal the simple yet different meanings attached to bids in the "TNT" system, the brain child of Edgar F. Tierney of Westfield, Massachusetts.

(Copyright, 1936, NEA Service Inc.)

Today's Contract Problem

South has opened the bidding with one no trump, an artificial bid to show his honor strength. North has responded with two hearts. Should South now bid spades, or raise the heart contract to game?

ABANDON SHIP OFF BERMUDA

H.M.S. Dragon Stands By to Salvage Liner Cristobal Colon

Hamilton, Bermuda, Oct. 28.—The Spanish liner Cristobal Colon, which ended its voyage on a reef here Sunday night, was apparently as homeless as its crew today.

Lloyd's local agent declined to assume responsibility for salvage, saying he could not learn whether the ship was insured or ascertain the names of the owners.

The ship's captain, Crescencio Navarro, would not divulge the owners or the ship's port of destination in Mexico.

Salvage tugs withdrew yesterday, but H.M.S. Dragon stood by waiting authority to salvage from the Spanish consulate at Mexico City.

The crew of 160, including six women, were taken off early in the morning and housed in homes of Bermuda sailors.

Investigators in these waters said there was every likelihood that the ship, hung on a treacherous reef, would break in two if the wind should freshen.

Added to the mystery was local mariners' inability to explain how the 10,833-ton ship had piled on the reef so neatly.

STORIES IN STAMPS
By I. S. Klein

LYRIC POET OF GERMANY

In the great operatic halls of Europe and America, people have been charmed by the music and drama of "Faust." In the halls of literature, the man who wrote the words of this classic remains one of the outstanding poets of all time. He was Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, poet, dramatist, and philosopher, whose compositions place Germany in the first rank of literature.

Born in 1749, Goethe displayed his genius at a very early age. At eight he could read French, Italian, Latin and Greek, besides German. He studied law then took up music, anatomy, art and chemistry. At twenty-two he published his first drama. From then on to his death at the age of eighty-three he wrote almost incessantly, poems, dramas, ballads and lyrics.

His greatest composition is Faust, which two great composers, Gounod and Berlioz, put into musical form. On this drama, Goethe worked from early manhood to almost the very end of his fruitful life in 1833.

His portrait appears on a stamp issued by Germany in 1926.

VERDICT OF MURDER

Byemore, Alta., Oct. 28.—After hearing four witnesses and deliberating for forty minutes, a coroner's jury found that George Pogmore had been willfully murdered by some person or persons unknown at his farm home near here on the night of Sunday, October 18. Byemore is about 125 miles northeast of Calgary.

Mistress—"Why, Mary, the value of the crockery you are breaking amounts to more than your wages. What can we do about it?"

Mary—"I don't know, ma'am. Perhaps you'd better raise my wages."

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

ALTHOUGH many sports fans may not realize it, six-day bicycle racing will face the supreme test in Canada this winter. Not heavily attended during the meets in Toronto and Montreal early this year, the promoters are making a gallant effort to bring back the sport that the shrewd promotion of Willie Spencer brought to the fore as a major big-city spectacle. The recent three-men to a team event in Montreal attracted good attendances, and the officials are anxiously waiting to see how the next race in Toronto makes out.

The story of Spencer is one of the success stories of sport, for the big bicycle man came from nowhere to the top of the heap as a bicycle sprinter. There were none who could outspurt Willie in his day, and there were none who could pull the six-day fans through the turnstiles in the way he could when the game was at its spectacular height.

Some eight years ago Spencer started his six-day circuit—at Montreal. He signed up a bunch of riders whom no one had ever heard about. There was the gawky red-headed Torchy Peden from Victoria, a lad with platinum blond locks named Jules Amy from Montreal and a sleek-haired youth named Henri LePage from Toronto. These three have become world-famous in the six-day sport.

Today the bicycle game in Canada stands just about where it stood when Spencer decided to stake his modest savings from his career as a professional rider in the hope of making the game a success. Now Spencer, with the aid of Russell Copeland, executive of the Canadian Wheelman's Association, is attempting to bring the game back to its former high standing, when the work of endurance would run around the 40,000 mark.

There was a dramatic development in the affairs of the Heart of Midlothian Club, who are well up in the Scottish Football League, when James Kerr, the trainer, resigned after playing had met the directors in Edinburgh. The situation which arose was without a precedent in Scottish football.

The players had previously threatened to strike unless they had a change of trainer. Kerr, who had previously resigned, agreed to return to the club, and the outcome was a protest by sixteen of the players.

These players next met the directors in Edinburgh, among the footballers being Tommy Walker, the inside right for whom $10,000 has been offered by English clubs.

The footballers evidently won their point. It was announced that Kerr would not return to the club, but would enter business in Edinburgh. The training of the club will be under the personal supervision of the club manager, David Pratt, who was formerly manager of Clifton Orient. It is unlikely that a new trainer will be appointed for some time.

Notts County, English Football League team, are making desperate efforts to retrieve their fallen fortunes. Following on the recent transfer of Hugh Gallacher, they obtained Moulson, the Lincoln City centre-half. The fee paid for Moulson was in the region of £2,000. Thus, with the Gallacher deal, Notts have spent £4,000 in less than a week. Moulson played for the Irish Free State on their continental tour at the close of last season.

Henri Cochet, of three musketeers fame, has been attached to the Ministry of Sport and Leisure by the French government. It will be his duty to tour France and encourage the playing of tennis. Cochet will give lessons and develop players who show promise. He has already discovered one player whom he is intensively training. The pupil is Jean Drutty, a Basque player.

Enrico Venturi Defeats Massey

New York, Oct. 28.—Enrico Venturi, Italian lightweight champion, outpointed Lew Massey, Philadelphia veteran, in a six-round bout at the New York Coliseum last night.

Venturi scored heavily with a two-fisted body attack in the last three rounds. Both boxers weighed 138. The victory was Venturi's tenth straight since arriving in America.

Captures Classic By Two Lengths; Daytona Second

Sir Abe Bailey's Colt Started at 7 to 1 Odds; Laureat Second Third

Weston Up On Winning Horse

Canadian Press
Newmarket, Eng., Oct. 28.—Sir Abe Bailey's Dan Bulger, the established favorite, today won the Cambridgeshire Stakes, with Daytona second and Laureat second third.

Twenty-two horses ran over the distance of one mile and one furlong. It was the ninety-seventh renewal of the famous autumn handicap.

Daytona is owned by Sir George Bullough and Laureat Second by M. H. Benson.

Dan Bulger started at odds of 7 to 1. Daytona was held at 33 to 1 and Laureat Second at 100 to 6.

EASY VICTORY

Dan Bulger, ridden by Weston, won by two lengths. Daytona finished a short head in front of Laureat Second. The winner was handicapped at 111 pounds. Daytona carried 117 pounds and Laureat Second 98 pounds.

Dan Bulger is a brown three-year-old colt by Bulger-The-Ram's Wife. The going was good and the weather fine. Victory of the favorite was a blow to the bookmakers. More than $25,000,000 was placed in bets, and they were hoping for a "clean-up" with the victory of an outsider.

Dan Bulger's time was 1 minute 31.3 seconds. Commander Third, which won the 1935 running of the race, finished sixth. At the half-way mark the leaders were Tempest Second and Princess Herodene, with Laureat Second, Harina, Daytona, Dan Bulger and Finalist close behind.

Going into the dip Laureat Second moved forward, but soon gave way to Dan Bulger, who drew away to win. Daytona moved up but could not make an impression on Dan Bulger, who ran on smoothly to win. Finalist was fourth, Tempest Second fifth and Commander Third sixth. Following in order came Holyrood, Stone Ginger, Noble Turk and Town Moore.

Baer Signs For Bout in London

New York, Oct. 28.—Max Baer, former heavyweight champion, who has not been doing so well on his comeback drive, did all right yesterday when he signed to meet the winner of the Walter Neusel-Ben Ford fight, scheduled for November 18, at the Harringay Arena in London, Eng., some time in February. Baer will receive a guarantee of $25,000, tax free, plus four round-trip tickets from London to New York. Baer agreed to leave for London in January.

FORTY-FIVE NEW MEMBERS

Membership Drive of Fish and Game Association Continues

Members of the Victoria and District Fish and Game Association are steadily attaining their membership aim of 300 by the time Christmas arrives—the total now being half that number—Jack Falkins, secretary, announced today.

Since the campaign for members got under way three weeks ago, forty-five new names have appeared on the registration book, the secretary reported.

According to members, activities of the association next year are going to be of direct interest to every hunter and fisherman in Victoria and district. The programme has not been disclosed, but it was intimated that recommendations for drastic reductions in open seasons on game birds and deer will be proposed.

Membership tickets can be secured from any local sporting goods store or direct from the secretary, 1314 Broad Street.

THISTLES PRACTICE

A workout of the Saanich Thistles football club will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the new training quarters located in the old J.B.A.A. at the Gorge.

Would Consider Deal For Dean

St. Louis, Oct. 28.—There is not any ball player so good he would not be traded if his club thought it would benefit by the deal, and Branch Rickey, vice-president and general manager of St. Louis Cardinals, said today that applied to Dizzy Dean, the team's star pitcher.

That does not mean, Rickey continued, that the Cards have put the eccentric right-hander on the trading block. It means "if some other club makes an offer for him, it is our policy to consider it."

M.C.C. WINS MATCH EASILY

Touring English Cricketers Beat Australians By Nine Wickets

Clare, South Australia, Oct. 28.—En route to Adelaide from Perth, the touring Marylebone Cricket Club team broke its journey today for a one-day match with Clare. The visitors won by nine wickets, making 141 runs for six wickets after the home team had declared at 62 for four.

Play was interrupted by showers. Walter Hammond, Gloucestershire, and Maurice Leyland, Yorkshire, made 40 to 39 respectively for M.C.C. R.E.S. Wyatt, Warwickshire captain, was hit on the left arm by a fast ball, and it is believed a bone in the forearm was fractured.

The tourists open a three-day match against South Australia at Adelaide on Friday.

In the other games, Ireland, despite the loss of Captain Vera Mahony, beat Wales, 6 to 2, while Australia, thanks to the four-goal shooting of Eva McRae, came from behind a 4 to 2 score at half-time to defeat Scotland, 5 to 4.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

NATURAL TUNNEL

Situated far back in the rugged regions of Powell Mountain, the existence of the huge Natural Tunnel in southwest Virginia has in the past been little known.

Cut through solid walls of limestone by a small stream, it required centuries of centuries for nature to complete her work. The entire length of the tunnel, including a naturally formed amphitheatre and a small adjoining tunnel, is 1,557 feet. The tunnel's height varies from 100 to 200 feet. Through the natural passage runs a railroad, telephone line and a good-sized stream, Stock Creek. Its railroad, originally the South Atlantic and Ohio, was put through in 1882, and now forms part of the Southern Railway system. Roads recently constructed through the district afford an opportunity for automobile travelers to visit the natural formation.

WALKING FISH

The quadruped bat fish (Malthodesopteryx)—a native of Central America and of Cuban waters, is a true fish, in spite of its strange leg equipment, believed to be unduplicated in all fishdom.

Science declares that in no way does the queer denizen of the deep represent a link between ordinary fish and amphibious animals such as frogs and beavers.

A bottom-feeder, the bat fish walks along the ocean floor, now and then using its powerful hindlegs to spring upward and forward while its tail fin performs lateral swimming movements.

STRONG MAN AT SIXTY-FIVE

George Elliott Flint gave striking illustration of the physical fitness a man may retain at an advanced age through a life of strict training habits. On August 26, 1932, the Long Beach older pushed up two eighty-pound dumb-bells thirteen successive times without jerking them in any way. January 10, 1934, at the age of sixty-five, Flint performed the same feat seventeen successive times with two seventy-pound dumb-bells.

BALSAMO AND RISCO SCRAP

Leading Middleweights in Ten-round Bout at New York Tonight

New York, Oct. 28.—Harry Balsamo, the former subway brakeman, clashes with the seasoned Babe Risco tonight in a ten-round bout that may prove a lot of things about the middle-weight situation.

Balsamo has ended so quickly most of the twenty fights he has fought here in the ring little more than fifty rounds. Tonight's fight may show whether this flake sensation must already be considered as leading challenger for Freddie Steele's title.

It may prove the wisdom of Promoter Mike Jacobs in taking Balsamo under his wing, just as he did Joe Louis a couple of years ago; or it may prove that the former champion, Risco, is too tough a customer for the comparatively experienced New Yorker to handle.

A paralyzing puncher, who wades in and mows them down, Balsamo has won sixteen of his twenty professional fights by knockouts. The most convincing victory was the quick knockout of Eric Seelig, German star, two weeks ago, which earned him tonight's bout with Risco. If he can lay low the Syracuse boy in anything like the same time it will clearly earn Balsamo the role of leading challenger.

JAMES CONNELL DIES

Ottawa, Oct. 28 (Canadian Press).—James Connell, father of Alex. Connell, goalie for Montreal Maroons of the National Hockey League, and Charlie Connell, formerly well-known in football and lacrosse circles, died at his home here yesterday. He was seventy-seven years old.

Expect Big House For Hoop Battle Tonight

The case of the Dominos vs. the Ex-Dominos goes to the jury at Victoria High School's gym tonight as the Chapman brothers and Mentor Nicol, with their rookies, complete their pre-season argument against Goldsmith, Martin, McKeebie, Andrews and company. The jury will be a packed house and the verdict will be in the nature of public reaction to the split in the western Canadian champion which divided the house into two senior A basketball groups.

The Goldsmith and Martin coterie under the name of the Capitals will take the floor against the Chapman faction, still the Dominos, as the top spot of a three act bill. The programme will open with the Liberty Cafe meeting Janning Florists in a senior B-tussle at 7.30 o'clock. Gainers Superiors and Cardinals are next on the list and the senior A-tussle will complete the entertainment. Tommy Macardo will be the referee.

ARMSTRONG IN BOUT VICTORY

Los Angeles Featherweight in Close Decision Over Mike Belloise

Los Angeles, Oct. 28.—Henry Armstrong, Los Angeles, won a close ten-round decision over Mike Belloise, New York, last night, eliminating the New York Italian as claimant of the world featherweight championship. Both fighters weighed 125.

Referee Abe Roth's decision, a hairline one, was received with divided approval by a capacity crowd of 10,400 in the Olympic Auditorium. The bout was recognized by the boxing commissions of New York and California as a "world's featherweight title" affair.

The winner was promised a match with Pete Barron, Birmingham, the National Boxing Association 126-pound king.

England Calls on Young Footballers

Hockey Gossip

End of hockey's thorn-strewn trail faced George Hainsworth today, but the little fellow spiked rumors he was going to retire.

George, who has been playing professional hockey since 1921, when he started with Saskatoon Sheiks, wants just "one more year" in the National League, then he's willing to step aside for some youngster. But as Toronto Maple Leafs prepared for their wind-up campaign before their first scheduled game November 5, chances of the "Kitchener jumping-jack" seemed none too bright.

Turk Broda, who started with Detroit Olympics last year, seems to be riding the inside track for the job. His sensational net minding has been the talk of recent Leaf drills—he may be the spark the team needs for the drive they hope will lead to the recapture of the Stanley Cup.

Four members of New York Rangers today were considering skating over Winnipeg's ice-covered streets to future practices rather than ride in Alec Shibley's automobile. Shibley's gas buggy and another skidded together at a downtown intersection and both crates suffered considerable damage. The left winger and his passengers, Neil Colville, Joe Cooper, Lynn Patrick and Butch Keeling escaped with a shaking up and bruises.

All New York American's regulars have signed contracts with the management under Bill Dwyer, but the sportsman's franchise has been declared forfeit by N.H.L. governors. President Frank Calder is scampers around trying to get the league's orphan problem straightened out before the barrier goes up.

Four promising players from the North-western League have failed to make the grade with Montreal Canadiens. Cecil Hart, confident his Habituants will reach the playoffs circle this season, discarded Nap Carriere, Les Whittles, Morry Rimstad and Nap Holmes, who starred in the west coast circuit, along with Art Lesieur, burly veteran with the squad last winter, and others.

Maple Leaf aspirants decided that Simon Legree Irvin wasn't such a hard task master after all, as they listened to Magistrate John R. Blake, Galt, relate trading activities of yesteryear. In 1883, Magistrate Blake, was playing junior football for Galt, the weight limit being 130 pounds. The day of the game he had weighed 129 pounds and in order to avoid chances of adding beef, he had to run fourteen miles to Kitchener while his mates rode alongside. He played the entire game and was then allowed to ride back.

Eight Squads Entered For Opening of Roller Loop; Entries Being Received

The closing date for entries was set for November 21.

Two sections will be operated this season, one for boys sixteen and under, and another for boys eighteen and under. To date the following teams have entered for play: "Eighteen and under: Red Wings, Roughriders, Wimpy's Capitals and Saanich Cougars; sixteen and under, Black Hawks, Oak Bay, Lions and Aces.

The next meeting of the league will be held November 13 in the Colonist boardroom, at 7.30 o'clock. Members of the executive committee are requested to attend a meeting at the home of the president, 1128 Raimond Road, on November 4 at 8 o'clock.

Players may register at the Athletic Park.

New Combination Worked Well in Turning Back Scotland 2 to 0 in Inter-league Match; Favor Attacking Policy to Improve Standard of Play

London, Oct. 28.—England's quest for a match-winning soccer combination has been successful. Experimenting with a team in which youthful stars were skillfully blended with players who had represented their country on previous occasions, English League footballers defeated their arch-rivals from Scotland at Everton. The inter-league contest ended 2 to 0.

Football critics hope the victory, England's second in representative matches since the close of the 1934-35 season will mark the country's emergence from a slough of inaptitude that has given selectors cause for anxiety for some time.

Faced with the fact that England won only one game in last year's tournament the selectors dropped many of their tried internationals for the inter-league tussle with the Irish League September 23. The much-altered squad had its colors lowered 3 to 2, and the pruning knife was used even more severely for the international match against Wales, October 17. But the result was the same. Wales won 2 to 1.

For the inter-league match against the Scots another big sweep was made. Of the team that did duty only four of the players who had regularly found places on representative sides were included. The changes had the desired effect. The Englishmen were faster and cleverer than the Scots and deserved their victory. England's next international tilt is set for November 18, when Ireland will be the visitor. It is not unlikely the team from the south of the Tweed will be substantially the same as that that did duty against the Scottish League.

DISCARD ATTACK

Decision of the Football Association to discard the "W" plan of attack which places the centre-forward well up with the opposing backs, while the inside men are positioned some distance in the rear, led to the firing of the old-line internationals.

Reporting after the Olympic Games, F. A. officials declared "the so-called 'W' formation meets with scant favor by the majority of national teams and, generally speaking, the old methods which have for their object attack more than defence proved more effective and certainly more interesting to watch."

With the selectors definitely in favor of the old style of play that calls for an attacking centre-half and a thrusting forward line instead of a defensive centre-half, practically a third back, it was practically impossible for them to choose players adept at that style of play.

The youngsters, with C. W. Gee of Everton acting as pivot, accomplished wonders against the Scottish League. It had been anticipated the Scots' experts at the defensive style of play thinned overboard by the English F. A., would be more than a match for the less-experienced English lads.

But the opposite was the case. "Dixie" Dean, Everton's clever centre-forward, who had not represented England since 1933, was brought back to lead the attack. The side played with such vigor that the Scots' defence was pierced twice within the first thirty minutes, and then in protecting their lead the English players proved equally as skilful in defence as in attack.

The Football Association's decision has caused a lot of controversy among league clubs as the defensive pivot or third-back policy has been the basis of nearly all successful professional teams in recent years. The result of the inter-league contest, if repeated against Ireland, may cause some of them to change their policy.

Nine Americans Get First Prizes

Canadian Press
Newmarket, Ont., Oct. 28.—Two Canadians held tickets in the Irish Free State Hospitals Sweepstakes on Dan Bulger, winner of the Cambridgehire, and stand to win $150,000 each.

Sweep authorities did not issue their names, but their noms de plume were Pine Grove (ticket NC 73554) and In Want, Hurry (ticket CJ 05123).

One Canadian, whose nom de plume was Kneec Action, held a ticket on Dayton, AE 28185. The lucky person is entitled to $75,000.

Arthur B. Kirk, Leamington, Ont., and Albert Ecclestone, Bracebridge, Ont., held tickets on Laureat Second and will get $50,000.

ALBERTA LUCKY

Rochfort Bridge, Alta., Oct. 28 (Canadian Press).—When Sir Albin Bulger's Dan Bulger galloped to victory in the Cambridgehire stakes in Newmarket today, the horse brought approximately $75,000 to Walter Snowden here.

But if Snowden had not sold a half-share in his Irish Sweepstakes ticket the other day, he would have won about $150,000.

Under the nom de plume of In Want, Hurry, the Rochfort Bridge farmer who came to this district twenty-five miles west of Edmonton only two years ago from drought-stricken South Dakota, had ticket number CJ 05123 in the sweep, drawn last Saturday in Dublin.

Snowden promptly sold a half interest for $10,000 to an English book-maker after drawing Dan Bulger in the sweep. He has the money already in a bank and will receive half of the winning first prize money, expected to be about $150,000.

What he intended to do with his winnings remained undisclosed.

AMERICANS DO WELL

New York, Oct. 28.—Nine Americans won top prizes of $150,000 apiece from the Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes draw today when Dan Bulger, the favorite, won the Cambridgehire.

American winners on Dayton, the second horse, each getting $75,000, included P. Ryan, Chicago, and Celia Johnson, Providence, R.I.

John Thrimos, Cicero, Ill., had a ticket on Laureat Second, the third horse. It is worth $50,000. Others on Laureat Second were Dorothy Ried, New York; August C. Krieger, Union City, N.J.; A. M. Schuteman, Baton Darras was employed recently on a WPA project. He is a former grocer. Butler is married and has two children.

The men were offered $10,000 for a half interest, but refused, declaring "We'll try for the big prize."

NEW HOCKEY RULE TRIED

Great Number of Offsides Eliminated By Plan Sponsored By Ottawa

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—Merits of a new rule sponsored by Cecil Duncan, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, were being discussed today. It was tried out last night in an exhibition game between Springfield Indians of the International-American League and Ottawa Senators of the Montreal senior group.

Under the new rule, a great number of off-sides would be averted. It would permit play to go on after attacking players had crossed the opposing defensive zone line before the puck. These players, however, would have to stand by and not take part in the play in any manner if the puck was brought into the opposing team's defensive zone by one of their mates.

The trial was apparently successful but whether the rule would be adopted by the C.A.H.A. was not known.

Saanich Anglers Meeting Tomorrow

Winter activities will be discussed tomorrow evening at a general meeting of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, to be held in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium at 8 o'clock. All members of the association are urged to attend.

JOLIAT REAL ICE VETERAN

Winger of Montreal Canadiens Has Seen Many Great Stars Come and Go

Montreal, Oct. 28.—Aurel Joliat flipped over the rink boards today as Les Canadiens whirled through practice sessions and a bunch of railbirds mouthed a new moniker for the National Hockey League identification—"Old Man of the Mountain."

It seemed to fit the little fellow. Since 1923 he's been fighting in the hockey war almost in the shadow of Mount Royal, wearing the blue, white, and red of the Habitués.

A lot of punks have gone into big-time news since Aurel came out of Saskatoon to join the Flying Frenchmen. He scored 247 of those goals himself, exclusive of Stanley Cup playoffs. Two years ago he played his 500th game.

Only four teams, Canadiens, Ottawa, Hamilton and Toronto St. Patrick's composed the N.H.L. when Joliat came out of the west. Joliat and the Canadiens are still here.

"The Forbidden Plateau, a Hundred Square Miles of Alpine Flowers on Vancouver Island," is the caption of an illustrated article written by Frank Glolima of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau appearing in the October issue of Canada's Weekly, widely circulated in Great Britain.

The easy accessibility of this great wilderness area of Vancouver Island, with its famous red snow, trout fishing, mountains, waterfalls, lakes, river, its white and purple heather, Alpine edelweiss, crimson-leaved huckleberries, pentstemons, gentians, valerians, phloxes, ranunculus and rhododendrons, presented in a word picture by Mr. Glolima, offers a distinctive appeal to the traveler. "There is nothing tame or tamed," the article concludes, "about the Forbidden Plateau."

The Women's Benefit Association will hold a banquet which is being held in the Metropolitan Church schoolroom at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening. Mrs. Mary Baird Dominion Superintendant will be the guest of honor. Reservations may be made by telephoning Mrs. Bowden, Mrs. Ritchie or Mrs. McAllister. A special meeting will be held at the Victoria Truth Centre, 720 1/2 Fort Street, beginning at 8 o'clock. The work will be explained, candidates initiated and an instructive talk will be given by Mrs. Baird on the work of the association. Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting and a good attendance is hoped for. A tea and reception will be held in Mrs. Baird's honor at the Empress Hotel on Wednesday afternoon at 3:30. For reservations, telephone Mrs. Burnett. Friends of members will be welcomed at the banquet and the tea, but the meeting is for members only.

While the British Columbia treasury's receipts in the fiscal year ending last March 31 exceeded the estimates by $3,368,000, expenditures were only $858,596 higher than the original appropriations, it was revealed in the public accounts presented to the B.C. Legislature yesterday by Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance.

This was the main reason for the $2,619,173 cash surplus on operating account announced by the finance minister.

Mr. Hart had estimated receipts at a figure of $22,493,891, but when the books finally closed for the year the treasury reported it had taken in a new record collections of $25,862,077.

Expenditures, estimated at $22,384,305, were permitted to run over this amount as revenues mounted to a figure of $23,242,901.

Several departments kept their expenses below the estimated amounts, notably the public works, which saved $1,000 on its appropriations; the labor department, which saved $43,000; the railways department, which saved $10,000; the municipal department, $2,500; fisheries, $1,000, and education, $7,500.

Offsetting these savings, however, were extra expenditures in the Provincial Secretary's department, running to $333,000 over the estimate, for additional welfare services; the Attorney-General's department, $295,000, for extra police; the finance department, $209,000 and lands, $57,000.

Although the province has temporarily suspended payments to the sinking funds, the charges for public debt will account for slightly more than 37 per cent of total provincial expenditures, the accounts revealed. Debt charges totaled $6,697,800 out of a total outlay of $23,242,901.

A comparison of revenues and expenditures on current account for the last seven years shows a steadily improving condition in provincial finances.

The table follows:

Revenue Expenditure Surplus or deficit

1929-30 $22,063,727 $26,210,156 -$4,146,429

1930-31 24,290,708 29,099,264 -4,808,556

1931-32 22,162,657 29,214,217 -7,051,560

1932-33 20,389,561 23,226,329 -2,836,768

1933-34 20,308,359 20,882,835 -574,476

1934-35 22,761,710 21,597,548 +1,164,162

1935-36 25,862,077 23,242,901 +2,619,176

In 1935-36 the government first suspended part of its sinking fund payments and began borrowing from Ottawa for unemployment relief, which accounts for the sudden drop in expenditures. Since that date figures in the third column are classified as the "current surplus" or "current deficit."

My Boyhood Ambition

A SOLDIER

COL. J. H. McMULLIN

"Being a soldier at nineteen years of age, my natural ambition was to rise to the top in the army," says Col. J. H. McMullin, who earned his first dollar wearing a uniform. While the colonel has not exactly achieved this, he has in a sense, for he now heads one of the finest police forces in North America, as the commissioner of the British Columbia police.

"When my ambitions in soldiering fell by the wayside I came to Canada to farm," he says.

He farmed for six years in the Okanagan and then went to South Africa in the Boer War.

"I can honestly say that I never asked for a job, anyhow," says the colonel with a smile, recalling how, when he returned from South Africa, Hon. Price Ellison, Minister of Finance under Sir Richard McBride, had "handed him a job on a silver platter." This position was with the provincial police.

"With thirty-five years behind me in police work, I have no regrets and I don't think I would want anything different if I had my life to live again," he says.

The picture of Col. McMullin was taken when he was serving in the Great War.

Water Revenue In City Down

Income From Sooke and Goldstream Systems to September Below 1935

Water revenue, based on consumers' charges, for the first nine months of 1936 fell $6,866 below that of the corresponding period last year, figures released by the city waterworks department today showed.

The Sooke and Goldstream systems, for the first nine months of 1935, yielded a revenue of $267,565, against $260,699 for the same period this year. Last year's total included $206,183 from the Sooke system and $54,482 from Goldstream. This year the amounts for each were $199,970 and $60,729 respectively.

The unfavorable difference was created mainly this year in the months from May 1 to the end of September, during which cheap water was given citizens to facilitate their garden irrigation. This year the reduction was instituted a month earlier than in 1935, starting on May 15 and ending on September 15, against June 15 to September 15 in 1935.

Revenue through the particular channel from Sooke for the four-month period this year amounted to $120,826 against $127,783 last year. Goldstream showed a similar, though smaller, drop from $42,519 in the 1935 months to $41,899 this year. The total drop on the two systems, amounted to $7,577 for the four months.

The cheap rate, however, could not be definitely cited as the cause of the reduction. This year in June, when gardens were requiring moisture, the weather was rainy, cutting down the consumption from the city's supply.

Any drop that might have been directly attributable to the lower charges was passed on to those consumers who availed themselves of the offer to give their gardens more moisture. It was generally considered the reduced rates would ultimately work but little hardship, if any, on the city, since the residents enjoyed the benefits of them.

The picture of Col. McMullin was taken when he was serving in the Great War.

Agents for the Prime Ministers and leaders of the various nations of the British Commonwealth.

"Canada calls herself a nation, yet has no national flag. She is the only nation in the British Commonwealth of Nations that has not her own flag," Mr. McGivern said.

"It would almost seem that the Mother Country has been pushing us forward to assume our responsibilities, but we have been loath to take them on," he said.

"The vital necessity in the world today is an offensive and defensive alliance between the United States of America and the British Empire. This undoubtedly is the road to world peace," he concluded.

A large congregation attended the funeral of John Elliott McRoberts yesterday afternoon, Rev. Dr. Clem Davies conducting an impressive service, during which the hymns "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" and "Forever With the Lord" were sung. The casket and hearse were banked with beautiful floral tributes. The following acted as pallbearers: Postmaster George H. Gardiner, E. M. Haynes and C. E. Ray, representing the postoffice; P. Lawson, W. R. Irvine and W. H. Lawson. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Suicide Verdict Of Gravelin Jury

Victor Raymond Gravelin committed suicide by drowning on or about September 22 while temporarily of unsound mind, was the verdict of the coroner's jury which this morning concluded the inquest into Gravelin's death at Hayward's Funeral Parlors.

The inquest was continued today after adjournment yesterday to permit the jury to hear Inspector J. F. C. B. Vance, Vancouver criminologist, who assisted Oak Bay police in the case. Inspector Vance and the Oak Bay police were complimented by the jury for diligent investigation of the case.

Vandals Damage Kwanis Shelter

Vandalism resulting in damage to the popular Kwanis Club shelter on Finlayson Point on the Dallas Road waterfront has prompted a public appeal from the club to assist in stopping the offences.

Because of objectionable language written on the walls of the structure by young men and boys it has been necessary for the club to order repainting and repairing of the shelter, which would not otherwise have been necessary.

The structure was erected by Kwanians for the benefit of people who prefer a walk along the waterfront.

Bondholders Delay Interest Answer

City officials and members of the City Council today received postcards from Mayor David Leeming from London, but none contained any specific information regarding the success of the refunding mission undertaken by the city.

Although the province has temporarily suspended payments to the sinking funds, the charges for public debt will account for slightly more than 37 per cent of total provincial expenditures, the accounts revealed. Debt charges totaled $6,697,800 out of a total outlay of $23,242,901.

A comparison of revenues and expenditures on current account for the last seven years shows a steadily improving condition in provincial finances.

The table follows:

Revenue Expenditure Surplus or deficit

1929-30 $22,063,727 $26,210,156 -$4,146,429

1930-31 24,290,708 29,099,264 -4,808,556

1931-32 22,162,657 29,214,217 -7,051,560

1932-33 20,389,561 23,226,329 -2,836,768

1933-34 20,308,359 20,882,835 -574,476

1934-35 22,761,710 21,597,548 +1,164,162

1935-36 25,862,077 23,242,901 +2,619,176

In 1935-36 the government first suspended part of its sinking fund payments and began borrowing from Ottawa for unemployment relief, which accounts for the sudden drop in expenditures. Since that date figures in the third column are classified as the "current surplus" or "current deficit."

RECREATION IS STUDIED

Approximately thirty persons attended the opening sessions of the Y.M.C.A. recreation conference which began yesterday under the direction of W. R. Cook, of the Y.M.C.A. National Council, in the lecture hall of the association building.

Games and puzzles from all parts of the world were in the collection of amusements demonstrated at the classes by Mr. Cook who is in the city for the purpose of conducting the conference. Mr. Cook began his profession several years ago and since that time has directed recreation throughout Canada and the United States.

Among Mr. Cook's collection of equipment are several shepherd's pipes which are easily made and provide many hours of entertainment for the manufacturer.

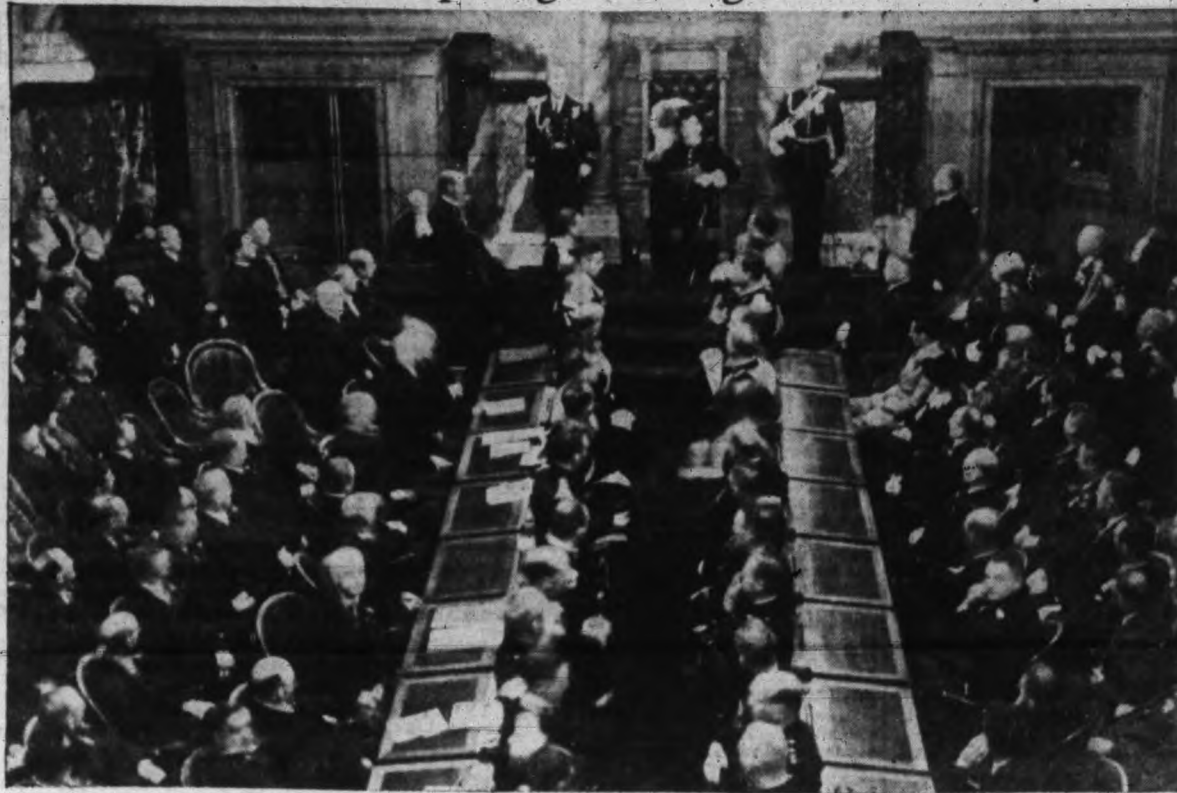

The programme for tomorrow's classes follows:

McKinnon; 8 o'clock—Reading, Miss Margaret Clay; 8:10 o'clock—Drama, Mrs. Reese Burns; 8:20 o'clock—Public speaking, P. Paulding; 8:30 o'clock—W. R. Cook; 9 o'clock—Glove making, Mrs. W. Scenes at the Opening of the Legislature Yesterday

This view of the inside of the Legislative Chamber was taken as the Lieutenant-Governor Hamber was delivering one of the longest throne speeches on record. He cited many of the things the government carried out during the last year and some of the things it hopes to do in the future. Standing at the left of His Honor in the picture is Lieut.-Commander F. R. W. Gow, R.C.N., and on the right, Major W. M. Turner, his two aides. Facing each other in the centre in two lines are the honorary aides in their court uniforms. On the first two rows of seats on each side are the members of the House. The cabinet ministers are in the first row at the left.

The Lieut.-Governor's mother-in-law, Mrs. J. Hendry of Vancouver mounts the front steps with Mrs. Hobart Nelson on her left.

Mrs. Gordon Hunter, left, widow of former Chief Justice Hunter, arrives and is in the act of speaking with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harty Morden.

Acting Mayor James Adam tips his hat with Mrs. Adam at his elbow.

Chief Hestley has his eye on something or somebody. The crowd is awaiting the arrival of His Honor.

His Honor stands at attention on the steps of the Parliament Buildings while the Royal Salute is given.

League Called "Lame Duck"

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson Tells Ottawa Women Britain Keeps It Alive

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Oct. 28.—The League of Nations, in the opinion of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, former Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain, is "lame duck."

Speaking yesterday on international affairs before an Ottawa women's club, Mr. Ferguson smilingly remarked:

"The League is a poor old lame duck, which would have been wiped out long ago if Great Britain had not been sitting at its bedside holding its hand."

It was only due to British public opinion the League had been able to show some success thus far and it was to be deplored the United States had not joined. If the United States should enter the League, he said, Scandinavian countries would follow, concerted efforts would be put forth and permanent peace would be assured.

WAR IN EAST FIRST
A war in the Far East was much more likely than one in Europe, Mr. Ferguson believed. He was convinced in his own mind, he said, there would not be a conflagration in Europe for some time, although there might be "a lot of people killed, such as in the troubles in Spain and other countries."

Something was apt to erupt in the Far East, however, and his opinion was that Great Britain had made a mistake in abrogating her treaty with Japan.

NO TALK OF NRA REVIVAL

Roosevelt, on Departure For Semi-final Speaking Tour, Brushes Aside Questions

Associated Press
Washington, Oct. 28.—Before leaving for his semi-final campaign drive, President Roosevelt yesterday smilingly brushed aside press conference questions about revival of the NRA.

He did say, however, in response to questions about a new coal regulation bill that something had to be done about the coal industry. He also announced plans for continuing the Civilian Conservation Corps on a slightly smaller basis than this year.

With his heaviest campaigning behind him, Mr. Roosevelt in response to a question pronounced himself physically and mentally in good shape.

Today he motored through sections of New York City, inspected federal works projects, and laid a cornerstone for a building at Brooklyn College, then spoke in the afternoon at exercises commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the Statue of Liberty.

Campaign addresses have been scheduled for Wilkes-Barre and Harrisburg, Pa., Camden, N.J., and Wilmington, Del., tomorrow.

In the evening a happy throng of dancers and card players brought to appropriate close to the events in celebration of the anniversary.

The 500 card party was convened by Past Regent A. Hatcher, winners were: First, Mr. Townsend and Mr. Davidson; second, Mrs. E. Bissenden and Mrs. Burke; consolation, Mrs. M. Carter and Mr. D. Acquitted On Assault Charge

Canadian Press
Nanaimo, Oct. 28.—Edward Stolle of Crofton, B.C., was acquitted by an assize court jury yesterday of a charge of common assault. The jury deliberated thirty minutes.

Stolle was originally charged with shooting with intent, but the charge was changed to common assault when Mr. Justice D. A. MacDonald found the Crown had failed to produce sufficient evidence to warrant the original charge.

The case, which cleaned up the criminal docket of the assize court here, arose out of a quarrel between Stolle and a next door neighbor.

Norman Phair, during which Stolle was alleged to have fired a .22 calibre rifle. In his own defence Stolle said he did not aim the gun at Phair on the occasion of the shooting and said the complainant struck him during the ensuing fight and opened a cut which necessitated five stitches.

INCIDENT LAST APRIL
Alberta and Ottawa were at loggerheads once before this year on a proposed loan. The provincial social credit government wanted a loan of $3,200,000 to cover a maturity due April 1. Ottawa was willing to advance the money—it had legislative authority at that time—if Alberta agreed to come under a loan council. The Alberta government refused. Ottawa stood adamant and the bonds were not redeemed although interest charges have been met ever since.

It was said at Ottawa today that whether or not the Bank of Canada could render Alberta assistance in meeting refunding requirements would depend on the policy adopted by the governor and his executive.

Canada Press
Ottawa, Oct. 26.—Decreases in all categories of relief recipients in Canada over the eight-month period December, 1935-July, 1936, are shown in tabulations compiled by the Labor Department and published in the current issue of the Labor Gazette.

The Labor Gazette's figures include only those receiving direct relief and not those employed on relief works for wages.

Generally the figures show a rise in the number of relief recipients from December to March, with a decline from April to July. The decline, however, was more marked than the rise, and as a result there were fewer people on relief in July than at the start of the period, December.

Total number of direct relief recipients in Canada in July was 1,063,546, compared with 1,212,262 in December, a decrease of 148,716. The peak figure in March was 1,398,410.

B.C. HAS MORE AT WORK
Decreases were shown for individual provinces as well as for the Dominion as a whole as a general rule. Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Ontario and British Columbia showed decreases in the total relief recipients and in all classifications.

Quebec was the only province to show any marked increase.

Two games were played in the Canadian Legion Cup series last Saturday at the Victoria Quilting Club's grounds. J. McMillan Sr. defeated J. Leiper 35 to 30 and D. M. Caig, advanced to the final, defeating T. Alexander 35 to 12.

A thrilling game should be witnessed on Saturday when J. McMillan, present B.C. champion, and T. Alexander, former titleholder, meet in the other semi-final match.

Two games will also be played in the Naysmith Trophy series when J. Leiper will meet J. McMillan Jr. and T. Alexander clashes with J. Manson. All games will start at 1:30 o'clock.

Ottawa Refuses Alberta Money
Edmonton Government Seeks $885,000 Elsewhere; Federal Ministry Lacks Power

Edmonton, Oct. 27.—Provincial Treasurer Cockcroft was seeking $885,000 today to redeem an Alberta bond issue of $1,250,000 due November 1.

The federal government, through Finance Minister Dunning, yesterday turned down an appeal for help, forcing the provincial minister to "look around for some other source."

He declined to outline his plans, but said he would publish a full statement on the situation in a day or two.

INTEREST REDUCED
The provincial sinking fund has only $336,000 to cover the issue, leaving a balance of $548,000 which must come from some source if the bondholders are to be paid. The issue originally had an interest rate of 6 per cent, but it was cut in half earlier this year in a general drive by the Alberta government to reduce debt carrying charges.

Finance Minister Dunning told the Alberta government the federal treasury had no power to make loans to provinces other than for relief purposes. Governor-General's warrants might be used in emergencies, but only to meet the public debt of the Dominion.

Alberta and Ottawa were at logger- heads once before this year on a proposed loan. The provincial social credit government wanted a loan of $3,200,000 to cover a maturity due April 1. Ottawa, Oct. 26.—Decreases in all categories of relief recipients in Canada over the eight-month period December, 1935-July, 1936, are shown in tabulations compiled by the Labor Department and published in the current issue of the Labor Gazette.

The Labor Gazette's figures include only those receiving direct relief and not those employed on relief works for wages.

Generally the figures show a rise in the number of relief recipients from December to March, with a decline from April to July. The decline, however, was more marked than the rise, and as a result there were fewer people on relief in July than at the start of the period, December.

Total number of direct relief recipients in Canada in July was 1,063,546, compared with 1,212,262 in December, a decrease of 148,716. The peak figure in March was 1,398,410.

B.C. HAS MORE AT WORK
Decreases were shown for individual provinces as well as for the Dominion as a whole as a general rule. Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Ontario and British Columbia showed decreases in the total relief recipients and in all classifications.

Quebec was the only province to show any marked increase.

Two games were played in the Canadian Legion Cup series last Saturday at the Victoria Quilting Club's grounds. J. McMillan Sr. defeated J. Leiper 35 to 30 and D. M. Caig, advanced to the final, defeating T. Alexander 35 to 12.

A thrilling game should be witnessed on Saturday when J. McMillan, present B.C. champion, and T. Alexander, former titleholder, meet in the other semi-final match.

Two games will also be played in the Naysmith Trophy series when J. Leiper will meet J. McMillan Jr. and T. Alexander clashes with J. Manson. All games will start at 1:30 o'clock.

Where To Go Tonight

Atlas—Robert Taylor in "Magnificent Obsession."
Capitol—Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in "Swing Time."
Columbia—Alice Brady in "The Harvester."
Dominion—William Frawley in "Three Married Men."
Oak Bay—"I Found Stella Parish," starring Kay Francis.
Plaza—Greta Garbo in "Anna Karenina."

OAK BAY THEATRE
In the picture "I Found Stella Parish," showing for the last time today at the Oak Bay Theatre, Kay Francis is given an unusual opportunity to express emotional feeling, and she rises to it with the flair of a real artist. Shown also is the much-discussed "Whipsaw," in which Myrna Loy is presented as an international jewel thief and Spencer Tracy as the secret service agent who attempts to trap her.

ATLAS THEATRE
Under his new contract for Universal, John Wayne is starred in "The Sea Spoilers," which is now at the Atlas Theatre. In it he portrays the commander of a Coast Guard patrol boat who engages in a gun battle with sea-pirates.

The screen play presents the Coast Guard in its relentless battle with smugglers and sea-pirates near the famous rookeries on Fribble Island.

CAPITOL THEATRE
A new dance that undoubtedly is filling the nation's gay spots with couples imitating Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers is a highlight of the co-starring new romantic musical comedy "Swing Time," now at the Capitol Theatre.

It is called "The Waltz in Swing Time," and is a display of terpsichorean inventiveness that does things to the old waltz that never happened to it before.

Canada Urged To Add to Defences

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Oct. 26.—"We are living in a fool's paradise if we think we can occupy half a continent, rich in vast resources, with only 10,000,000 people without our requiring sufficient financial protection to safeguard our heritage, Lieut.-Col. Harry S. Hamilton, K.C., Liberal M.P. for Algoma West, Ont., told a local service club yesterday as he urged the necessity of Canada protecting herself in an "expansion mad" world.

Canada needed a better defence policy and Canadian people must be awakened to this necessity, declared Lieut.-Col. Hamilton, first member of the Canadian expeditionary force to be wounded in the Great War.

DUNCAN
Duncan, Oct. 26.—The annual jam shower held for the King's Daughters' Hospital, under the auspices of the W.A. to the hospital, proved a great success on Tuesday, over 200 bottles of fruit, jam and pickles being received as well as cash donations. A musical programme, arranged by Mrs. E. W. Neel, was contributed to by Mrs. V. Bigwood, Mrs. W. Dobson, Mrs. A. B. Robertson and Mrs. H. M. Shaw.

A short business meeting was held by the W.A. with the object of furthering plans for the Christmas community bazaar to be held December 5.

A year's collection of refuse from houses in London, England, would cover an area of thirty-three acres to a depth of nine feet.

Total number of direct relief recipients in

Dorothy Dix

There is no other one thing that we glorify so much as we do mother influence, but while we are singing songs about it, writing poetry about it and dramatizing it into tear-jerking plays, it is well to remember that mother's influence is not always the beautiful and sacred and uplifting thing it is popularly depicted as being. It can curse as well as bless. It can be the most damnable thing on earth.

It is a platitude to say that children are clay in their mother's hands and that ninety-nine times out of a hundred they are what she makes them. While they are in the cradle she sets the pattern of their lives. She teaches them the creed they are to live by and die by. She breeds in them strength or weakness, and makes of them the sort of men and women who stand up and fight life to a finish or who throw up their hands and quit at the first rebuff of fate. She turns out the heroes and the cowards, the successes and the failures, and there is scarcely one of us, from the highest to the lowest, who cannot say that "I am what my mother made me. I am the badge of her honor or her shame."

When you think of it there is nothing more terrible to contemplate than the vastness and completeness of mother influence nor the fact that it is exercised upon a helpless human being who can no more decide his destiny than the clay can say into what shape the potter shall fashion it. For by the time a child is old enough to have some self-determination it is too late. Mother has already marked him.

And it is still more terrible to see how often this power is given over into the hands of fools who play with it as ignorantly and as recklessly as a babe would with a loaded bomb, and who, when they wreck their children's lives, never even understand how it happened or that they are responsible for the catastrophe. Herein lies one of the most ironic tragedies of poor blundering humanity, for it is the mothers who are most blindly and fanatically devoted to their children and who would die to save them from the least harm, who are oftenest the ones whose influence is most baneful upon their children.

As I write these lines I am thinking of a woman I know who had a son, who was as fine a specimen of humanity as one could wish to see--big, strong, healthy, intelligent, unusually talented, handsome and sweet-natured, but who was absolutely ruined by his mother's influence. She began spoiling him as soon as he was born, so he was a pest from the very cradle. She indulged his every whim and caprice. She waited on him hand and foot. She never let him stand on his own feet or decide anything for himself. She never let him be subject to any discipline. The result was that he grew up without any self-control, without knowing how to restrain his appetite, without any education, without any knowledge of how to spend money. Finally, when he did break away from her apron strings, he went wild and drank himself to death, after getting into all sorts of entanglements with gold-digging women.

And most of all, as I write this, I am thinking of a story that I heard a famous and successful man, tell about his mother's influence. "My father died when I was a baby," he said, "leaving my mother with no money and a child to support, but she never even complained nor pitied me for being poor and not being able to have the things that rich children had. Instead, she taught me that all the things I wanted were there, but I had to go out and get them myself."

"I remember once that a big boy took from me a top I had saved my pennies for weeks to buy. It was only six or seven years old, and I ran crying to mother. She didn't say, 'My poor little darling, mother will get you another.' She said, 'Where is the boy?' I said, 'Across the street.' She said, 'Go and take it away from him, and I'll stand here and watch you do it.' And I went out that door like a little wildcat, because my mother was watching me and expected me to do a brave thing and I so astonished the boy that I did take it away from him."

"And," chuckled the man, "if I were going to set up a coat-of-arms, it would be an ashen rampart with the legend with the word BUT above it, because those two things have been the greatest factors in my success in life. When I was a little kid, it was my chore to take out the ashes and do it without being told. It was a heavy task that I had to toil over, but it taught me how to buck up and do the day's work, however heavy it was."

"Then my mother was always encouraging me about whatever I did, but she put a whiplash into it that urged me on, although I didn't know it at the time. 'That was splendid the way you took out the ashes, BUT I think you can do it a little better.' Your report from school was fine this month, BUT you can get a little higher grade if you study harder.' And I always could and did. When I got out into the world my mother's 'BUT' always urged me on. No matter how well I did a thing, I always knew I could do it a little better, and so I went out where the men who had not had that kind of a mother failed."

Great thing, a mother's influence. It makes or mars the lives of children. (Copyright, 1936) DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Wiggily's Goose Quill

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Wait! Wait for me, please!" squeaked Jillie Longtail the mouse girl as she ran after Uncle Wiggily. "Oh, I forgot for the moment you were with me," he said, stopping and turning around slowly so he wouldn't drop the goose quill pen and the knife he was carrying in his paw. "Run along, Jillie. I'm running as fast as I can," said the little mouse. "But what do you think we are going to find?" "I don't know," replied the rabbit gentleman. "Help! Help! Trouble, that's all I know," went on the bunny. "And I must help them." "Then I suppose Jillie and I will never get our pencil boxes," said Jillie and she stopped a moment to tie the knot in her tail, as she had seen Nurse Jane Punny Wussy do, so she wouldn't trip on it and fall. For Jillie had a very long tail. It was as long as the tail of a mouse, as Uncle Wiggily's ears were long for a rabbit.

"Wiggily hops fast." "Oh, you and Uncle shall have your pencil boxes all right," promised the rabbit gentleman. He was hopping along so fast he didn't stop to twist his pink nose. "I'll finish making the feather pens and I'll make the bunny pens made of birch bark for them and I am sure to find some in the woods where we are going." By this time Jillie saw that she and Uncle Wiggily had run far enough from the hollow stump bungalow to reach the edge of the woods. It was the woods in which had sounded the call for help. As I told you in the story before this, Jillie had sadly cried because she and her brother had no pencil boxes as had the other animal children who recited their lessons to the Lady Mouse Teacher in the Hollow Tree School. So Uncle Wiggily had promised to make the mice children some pencil boxes. He had just started to make the pens out of some long feathers Grandfather Goose Gander had given him when the call for help was heard. "We have to hurry to help and make pens afterward," said Uncle Wiggily to Jillie as they ran along. "I never saw pens made out of goose quills," said the mouse girl. "The pens what they're made of in the old days," said Uncle Wiggily. "Always goose quills. Now they make them out of steel."

"And fountains," said Jillie. "Oh, yes, I forgot about fountain pens," said Uncle Wiggily. By this time he and Jillie were close to a place where the voice was calling: "Help! Help! Help!" They saw it was Arabella, a little chicken girl, who had been caught by a big bad frog. The chicken girl had gone to the edge of the pond to get a drink. Out popped the Bull Frog and caught her by the leg. Mr. how the chicken yipped! "Let go! Let go!" neeped Arabella. "No! No!" croaked the Bull Frog. "I'll never let you go!" said Uncle Wiggily. With that he tickled the Bull Frog under the chin with one of the goose feathers. "Oh, Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed the Bull Frog as he felt Uncle Wiggily's tickler. Then and there he opened his big mouth and Arabella could pull away her leg and she was saved. And if the window shade will please stop trying to jump up to the

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

THE HOROSCOPE, OCTOBER 28, 1936. Conflicting planetary aspects are active today, according to astrology. The general prognostication is that business, the stock market may be exceedingly interesting within a fortnight. A stormy sea is an auspicious rule. Much litigation is indicated for commercial organizations, criminal trials will get going in number next month. The stars' favor leadership and incline both men and women toward loyalty. Hearts as well as heads now will affect choice of political candidates. Astrologers foretell for reform and third party movements severe disappointment, but there will be less one surprising election result which will favor future reorganization.

This is a week that warns against the danger of writing anything that is uncomplimentary or critical regarding prominent men and women. There is a sign that forebodes slanders, insinuations that may cause future difficulties. Persons who occupy positions in the sun are fortunate in that they should feel stimulated and encouraged in working out their ambitious plans. This is a lucky day for bestowing benefits or rewards of any sort. It is an auspicious date for securing promises of future aid or employment. Health should be safeguarded carefully today. Fatigue may have serious effects. Sudden deaths are likely to increase in number.

Persons whose birthdate is it have the augury of a year of rather exciting business experiences. Publicity will increase profits substantially. Children born on this day probably will be intellectual and fond of study. Many subjects of this sign reach supreme success in life. Robert H. Lee, inventor, was born on this day, 1784. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include James Bonwill, Dr. Johnson's biographer, 1760, and John Keats, English poet, 1795. (Copyright, 1936, by H. K. Garis)

BUFFET SUPPER KEYNOTES INFORMALITY OF PARTY

The gobins are always well-behaved when you serve them a Halloween dessert like this—fruity gelatin bursting with apples and raisins and guarded by cream cheese funny-faces.

Did you know that there are more parties on Halloween than at any other single time during the social year? Well, that's what statisticians report. Better join in the fun, telephone your friends, gather together to duck for apples, tell fortunes and, like all hungry ghosts, relish an appropriate Halloween supper.

Serve the supper from a buffet. Use any long table covered with yellow crepe paper. Autumn fruits make good centerpieces, especially when flanked by tall yellow candles with black cardboard witches and cats that climb up their luminous lengths. Arrange all the silver to be used in a geometric pattern near the edge of the table, have napkins, china and coffee cups arranged for easy serving. Informality is the spirit, buxom simplicity the keynote of the menu.

BUFFET MENU

A menu like this will make witches scream with delight and black cats uncurl their backs and purr with satisfaction. The apple-duckers are going to like it, too. Baked beans, sliced baked ham, brown bread and cream cheese sandwiches, Halloween dessert, quarts and quarts of coffee, cigarettes and candles available, and a few good skeletons made of white cardboard lurking in the far corners of the room to scare up the appetite.

For baked beans, use canned pork and beans. Use as many cans as you think will be needed. To the beans, add a little dry mustard, a reasonable amount of Worcester sauce, a liberal sprinkling of brown sugar and a dash of cayenne pepper and a few shakes of catsup. Turn into an attractive baking dish with butter, and bake in hot oven for twenty minutes. Far grander than you'd expect.

HALLOWE'EN DESSERT

Pour two-thirds cup of boiling water over 1/4 cup seeded raisins. Boil for 10 minutes, cool, drain. Dissolve 1 package orange gelatin dessert in 1 cup boiling water, and add 1 cup of cold water. Pour small amount in Put row of raisins around edge. Chill remaining gelatin mixture until it begins to thicken, then fold in 1 cup diced sweet apple and remaining raisins. Pour into mold and chill and garnish with a round of slices of cream cheese with pert, raisin faces. Some of your invited "ghosts" may like whipped cream with this.

TOMORROW'S MENU

Breakfast: Grapefruit, kidney saute on toast, corn, bread, coffee.
Luncheon: Hot bouillon, salmon and celery salad, baking powder biscuits, home-made jelly, Washington cream pie, tea.
Dinner: Clam and tomato juice cocktail, stuffed shoulder of veal, scalloped potatoes with cheese, spinach, diced beans, pumpkin pie, coffee.

Sooke Building Plans Changed

Building Certificates to Be Issued For Erection of
New Community Hall

Sooke, Oct. 28.—A meeting of the Sooke Community Association was held in the Sooke Hall on Monday evening. Horace Goodrich acting as chairman. C. A. Helgesen outlined a plan for the erection of the new community hall which was adopted by the directors. The previously drawn up contract with a firm of builders has been cancelled. The scheme advanced by the meeting is that the money on hand be used for the purpose of purchasing materials, while the money for wages and incidentals will be raised through the selling of building certificates. These certificates will be in the form of a loan to the association and will be placed on a paying basis. It is planned to place the erection of the building in the hands of a capable foreman and a few carpenters, the remainder of the work to be done by voluntary labor. It is anticipated that the work will commence during the month of November and that the hall will be ready by the end of the year. The building will not be fully completed at this time but will be finished as funds are available.

Cocktail Party In Train Siege

Passengers Sit on Floor of Club Car in Louisiana As Stones Thrown

New Orleans, Oct. 28.—A cocktail party—held on the floor of a darkened railroad coach while stones drummed against the car's side—was described yesterday by passengers who spent five hours in a Louisiana and Arkansas train besieged by strike sympathizers near Winfield, La. Both men and women were in the crowd that halted the train, loaded with students and fans returning from the Louisiana State-Arkansas football game at Shreveport. They surrounded the coaches, which were locked against a possible attack, hurled stones and bricks, shouted and cursed, while passengers huddled in darkness below the windows. A New Orleans woman, who declined to give her name, described the experience.

Powers Consider Ethiopia Status

Italian Paper Intimates
Doors Open to Friendly
Nations

London, Oct. 28.—The powers are consulting the status of Ethiopia, Virginia Gayda, whose contributions in The Giornale d'Italia of Rome are generally regarded as inspired, pointedly writes that the gates of Ethiopia are open to those states which recognize the definite transfer of sovereignty to a civilizing Italy. "But one day not so far off those gates will be shut."

The statement has a significant bearing on British interests in the region of Lake Tana (whose waters are vital for irrigation purposes in the Sudan).

It is intimated in British official circles, however, that Britain's position with regard to Ethiopia is unchanged. The situation in Addis Ababa is admittedly confused, but there is no present intention of recognizing Ethiopia as part of the Italian empire. It is not unlikely that British action will await a decision by the League of Nations.

SIX CHILDREN TO BE DEPORTED

Associated Press

New Bedford, Mass., Oct. 28.—Six Canadian-born children faced deportation to their native Moncton, N.B., today because their mother, Mrs. Achiel Martens, thirty-two, was unable to raise $108 to pay for their re-entrance visas.

The children, ranging from four to eleven years of age, were ordered deported when their visiting visa expired.

Mrs. Martens, a United States citizen, lived in Canada from 1912 to 1935, when her first husband, Clifford O'Brien, father of the six children, died. She came to New Bedford on a visit and met her second husband, bringing her children here.

Seattle, Oct. 28.—Edward Fliss, thirty, who pleaded guilty to attempting to pass $205 in Weyerhaeuser ransom money, yesterday signed a waiver agreeing to consideration of his case by a Tacoma grand jury November 10.

The case is based on an occurrence in Seattle, in the northern division of this federal judicial district. Tacoma is in the southern division. Fliss waived this technicality. His action means the government would not have to wait several weeks for a grand jury to convene here.

Fascist Force In Madrid Reported

Hendaye, France, Oct. 28.—Secret organization of a "third army" inside Madrid to aid Fascists in capturing the capital was reported by travelers reaching France today.

The interior forces would seize the city and hold it for the insurgents in the event officials of the Spanish Socialist government attempted to flee in the face of a Fascist advance, the travelers declared.

"Madrid officials recently denied reports of mobilization of Fascist 'fifth column' in the capital. The official denials were made after sweeping raids by Madrid police in which hundreds of alleged insurgent sympathizers were jailed."
